Q. What is sometimes confused, grows bigger every year, has lots of spirit, and not enough room to put it in?
A. Alta Loma High School in 1980-81.

The second year of the decade saw the start of Ray Rayburn's second year as principal . . . Tom Maxfield retired after 30 years of teaching and administration . . . Junk food was declared unfit for human consumption, at least for student humans . . . But it didn't really matter, because it seemed like half the school was selling candy to the other half (to raise money) . . . Teachers came back to school with broad grins and fat wallets, having received a 10.25% raise in September . . . We found out Rancho Cucamonga was going to get a new high school, after all . . . We discovered just how tolerant we were to torrid zone temperatures in classrooms . . . Then air conditioning was fixed and we found out what the Eskimos have always known . . . As if it wasn't bad enough already, they added more time to the school day . . . We continued to have no frosh for the second year (a mixed blessing!) . . . At the beginning of the year, the bell system went on the fritz and confusion reigned as some teachers released students early and some released them late . . . Earl Miller became the new Assistant Principal for Pupil Personnel Services (courageous man!) . . . President Carter retired . . . Ronnie decided to leave the ranch for a spell . . . The school built a weight room to help keep our healthy young bodies (ha!) in tip-top shape . . . All in all, it was the best of years, because WE WERE THERE!

Freshmen Continue Academic Travels; But End Is In Sight

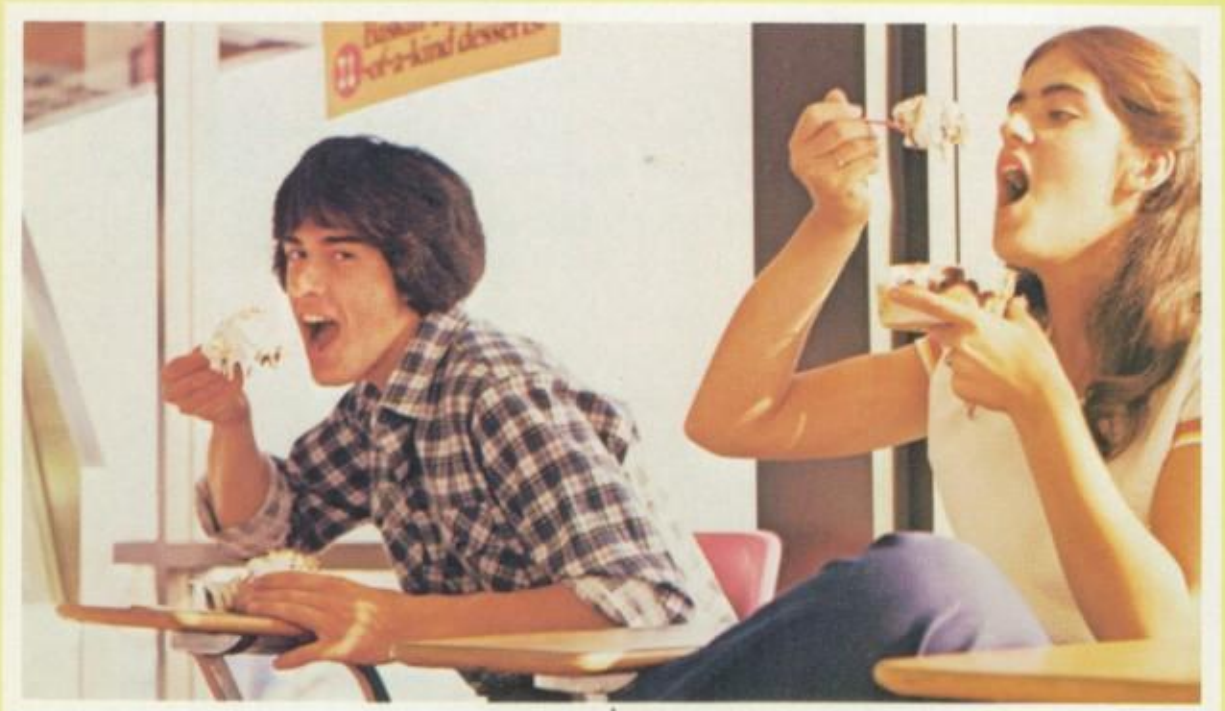
Freshmen? Did someone say "Freshmen"? Students at Alta Loma scarcely knew what the words meant since, for the last two years, freshmen have been bused to Chaffey and Montclair. Overcrowded conditions at Alta Loma forced the school district to adopt the rather strong measure. But many people agreed that this solution was preferable to having double sessions.

Although freshmen are traditionally thought of as being at the bottom of the academic totem pole, even the worst frosh-hater would not wish on them the hostility of some Chaffey and Montclair students who viewed them as outsiders; the difficulties of playing on Alta Loma athletic teams; and not least, the rigors of daily busing.

But the end may be in sight. The school district has taken the preliminary steps to design and build a new comprehensive high school located in Etiwanda. Scheduled to open in the fall of 1983, the school will have facilities for 1100 students. A school district committee has been busy making plans for redrawing boundary lines to accommodate a 6th school. So watch out, Alta Loma: the frosh are coming home!

THOUGHT FOR FOOD

In yet another incursion into local education, the California State Board of Education told us this year what we've always known about junk food: it can be bad for your health. In an attempt to comply with federal regulations, the board decreed that half of the food sold on campuses had to be nutritional, and the Chaffey School Board went along with the idea.



Hey Kublicinski (burger
You Acid Punk Rocker!
Did you have a fun year? Well, I didn't think so. You got to admit it wasn't

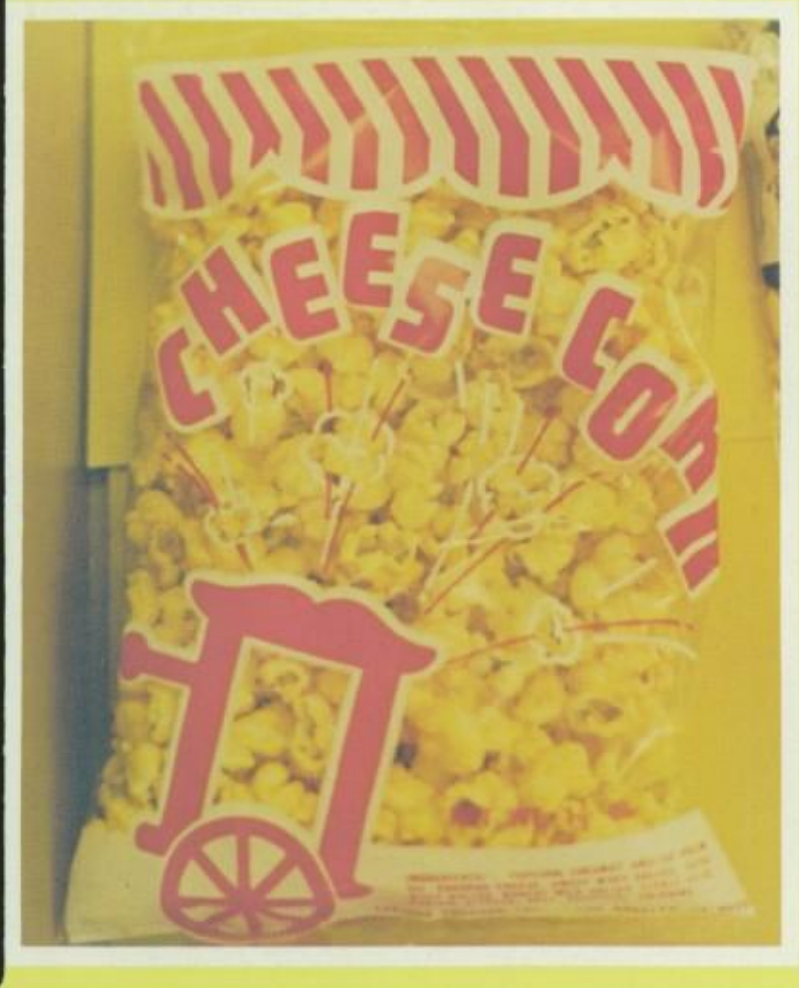
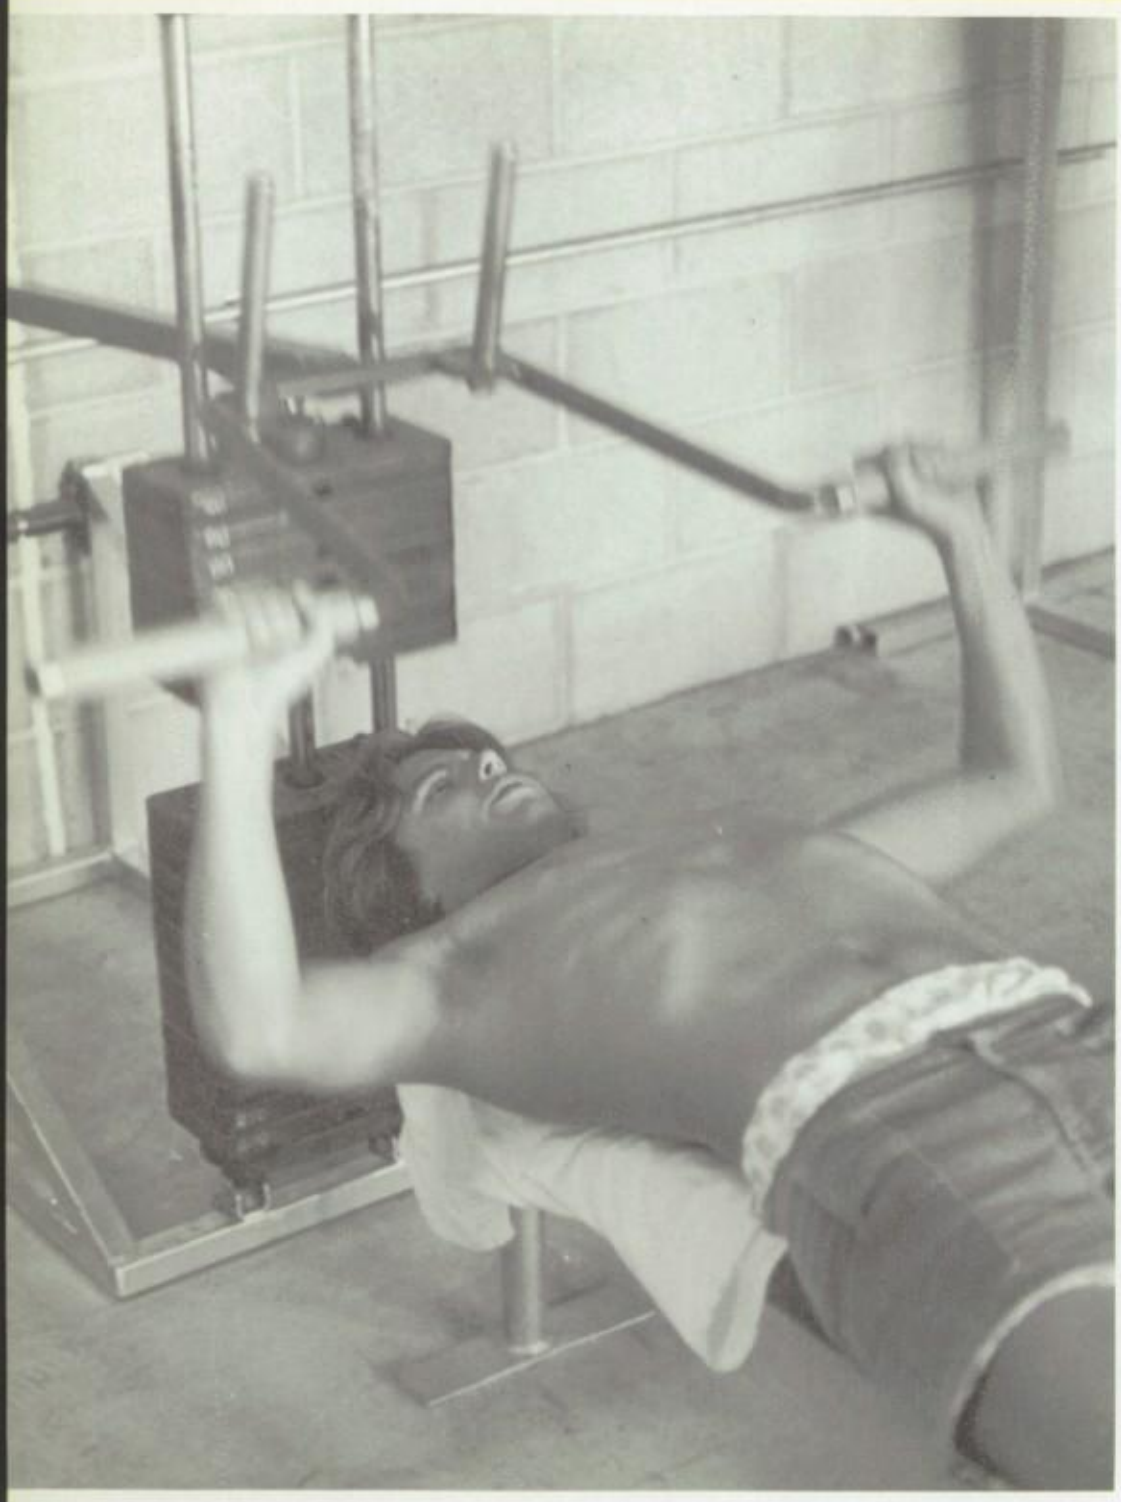
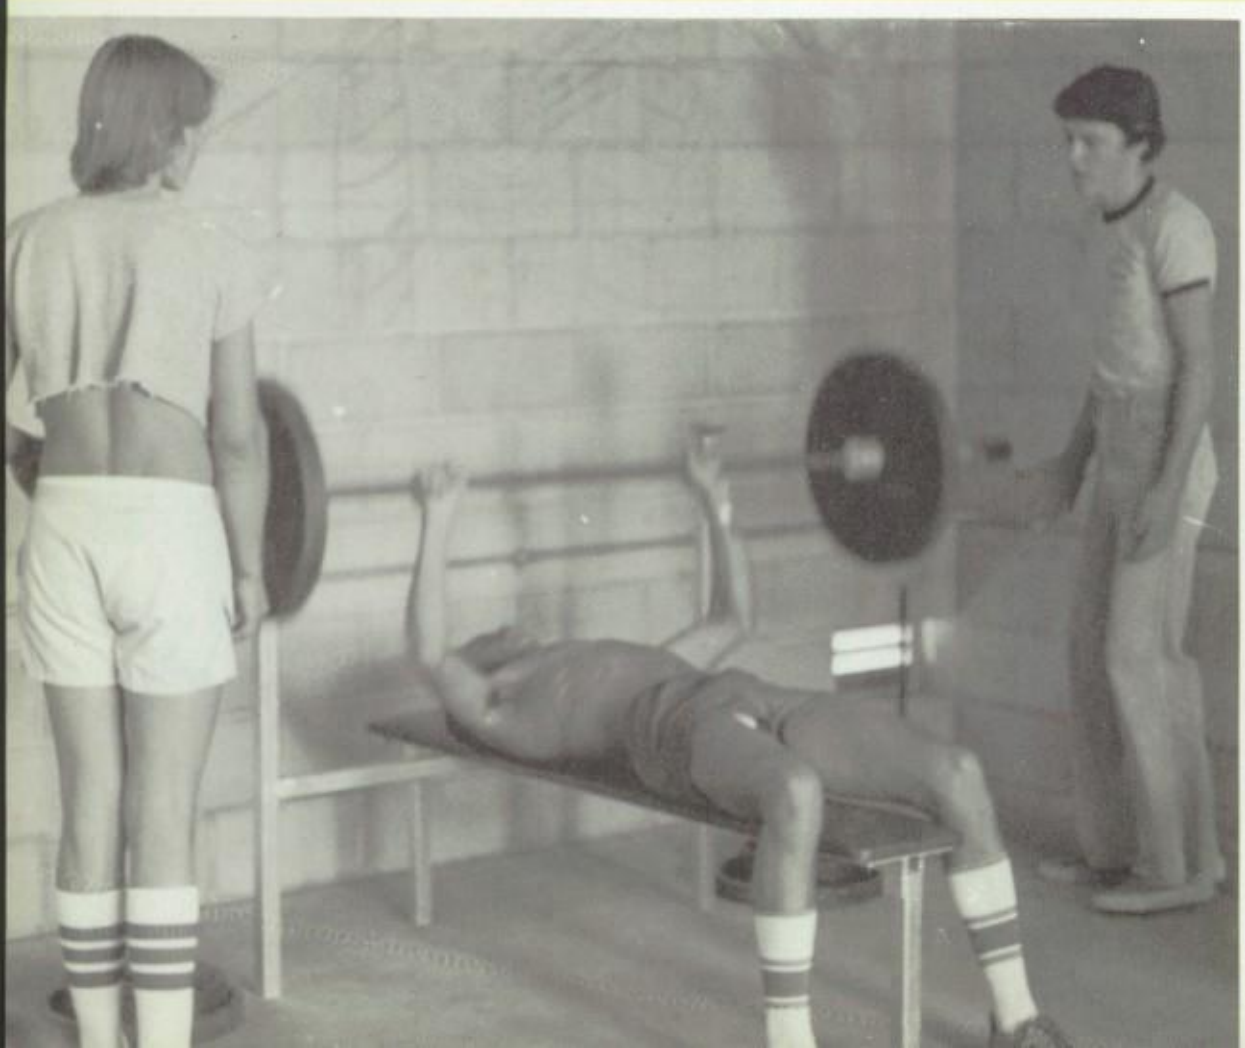
Pete.



When we sampled the fare at the AL student store, we at first thought we had walked into a health food store. We were surrounded by granola bars, oatmeal bars, and fruits and nuts. Strawberry, apricot, and peach fruit snacks, and other exotic nourishment, such as dried meat, stared up at us. Students, in various stages of sugar withdrawal, leaned over counters, looking longingly at M & M's and Butterfingers.

Weighty Subjects Pursued As Students Pump Iron





Grunts and groans and cries of agony aren't coming just from the classrooms anymore. Now AL has a new weight room to add to the din. The room, located north of the gym, was finished during summer break, and will hopefully improve our athletes' physiques. Student government paid $16,000, and district officials funded the remaining $32,000 for its completion. Coach Cook constructed all of the equipment needed to supply hours of fun-packed amusement. The room was a great help to athletes who have dedicated their bodies to sports. When faculty and other students have a better understanding of the equipment, its use will be expanded to the entire school. Muscle-stimulating murals were painted on interior walls by Jose Villejas and Harley Stuart.

WHAT IS THE MOST IMPORTANT THING YOU'VE LEARNED SO FAR AT ALTA LOMA?

I have learned nothing so far.

Janet Smith

I've learned how to cope with life and the many problems it presents.

Dan Eledesma

I've learned how to be more responsible and that there is more to school than work.

Robert Elwell

I've learned how to sweet talk teachers!

Jeanna Bowman

To accept others for what they are.

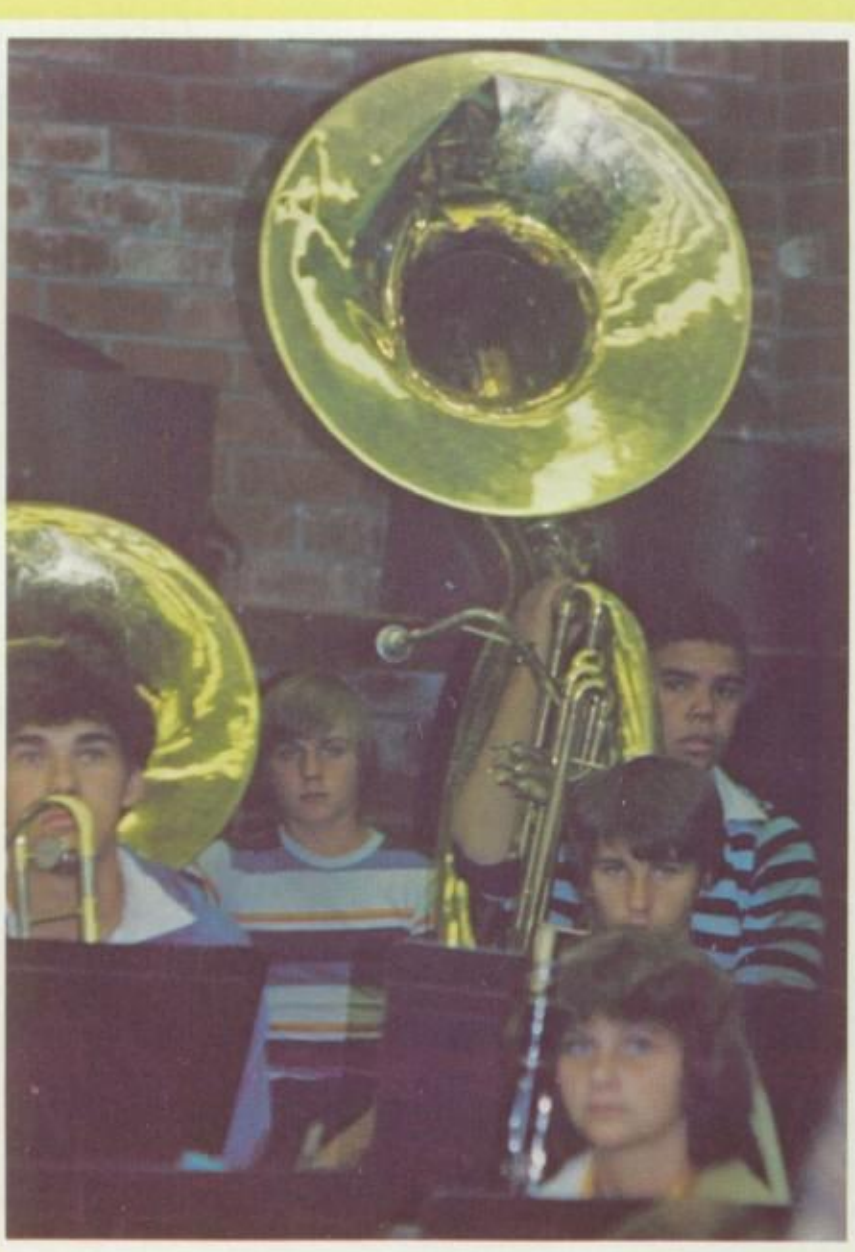
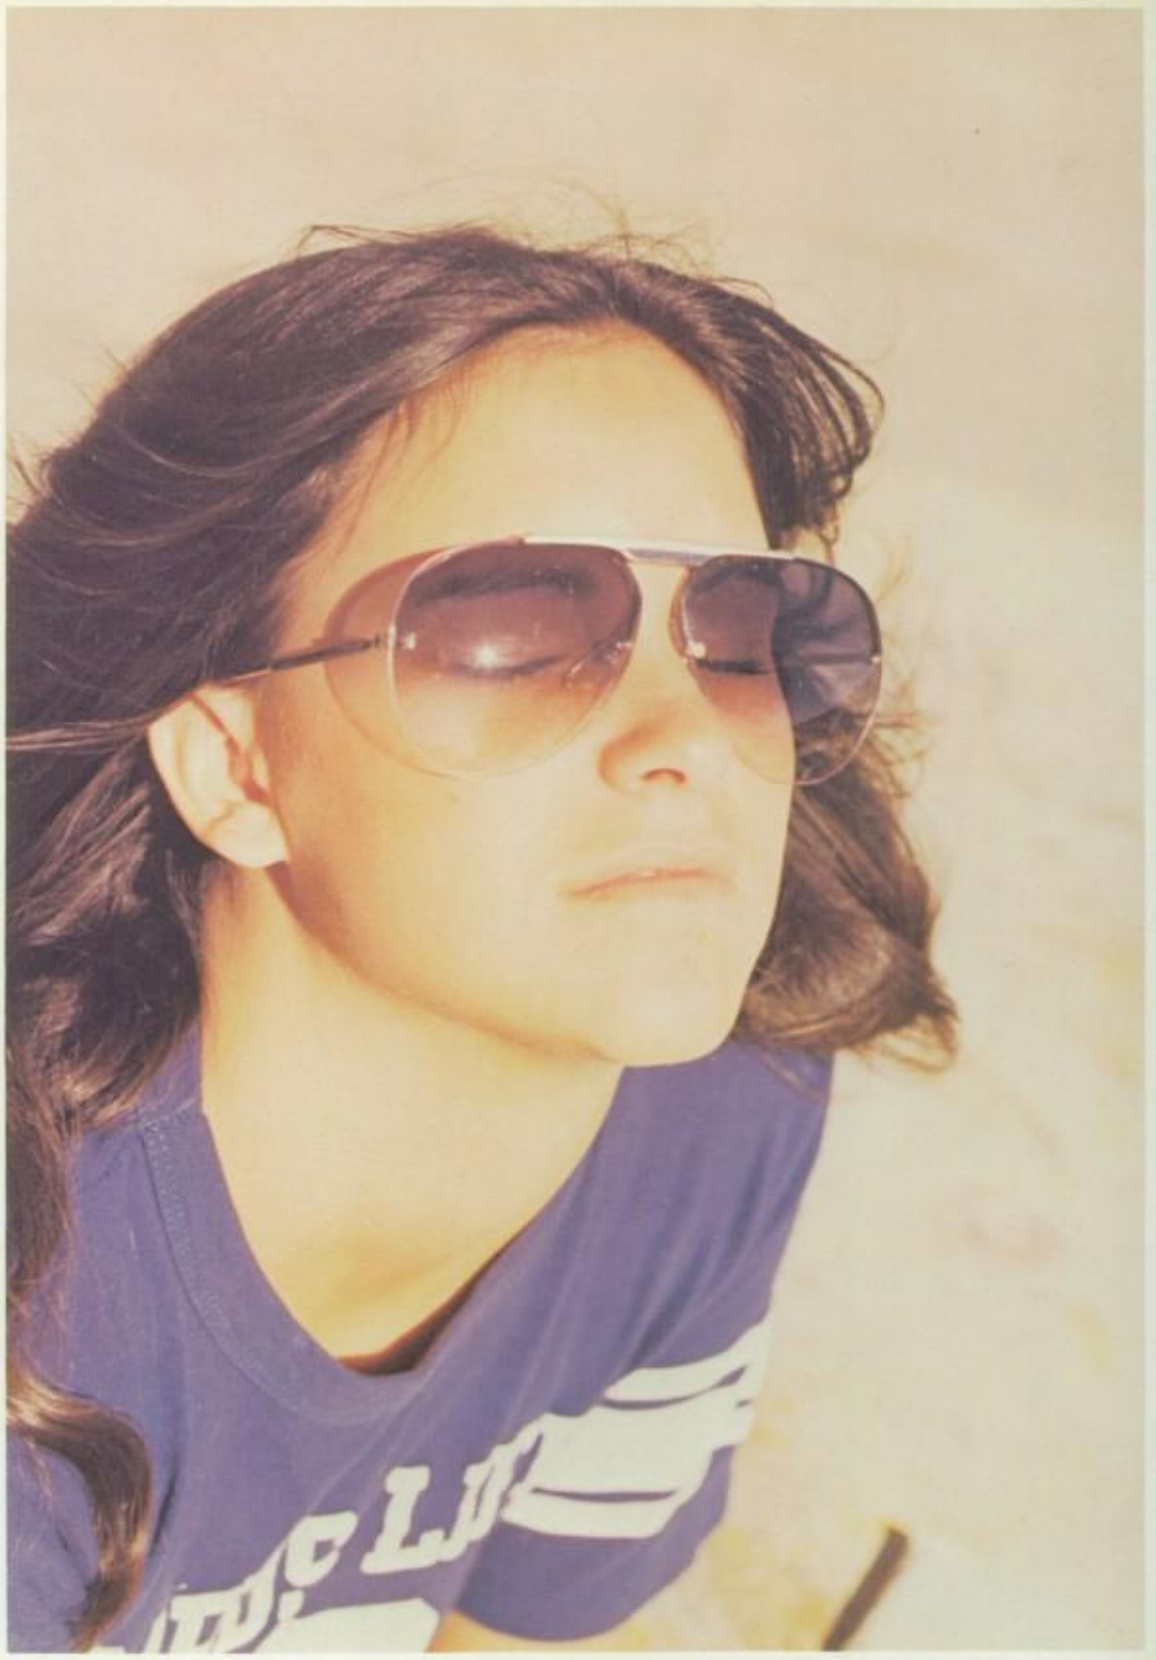
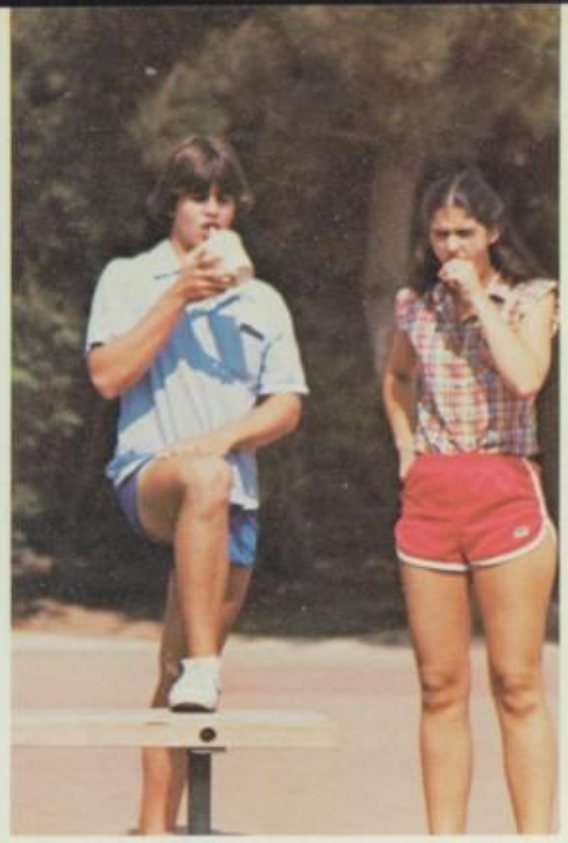
Band Marches to Beat of a New Drum

For the first time in its 18 year career, Alta Loma's Marching Band took part in the Azusa Field Show Competition. Marching away with fourth place in its division, this year's band, according to Kevin Huelsman, director, did a tremendous job. The band performed in many parades, ranging from Lester Oakes in Riverside, to the California Band Review in Santa Ana. Practicing an average of 2 hours a day, with an occasional night session, the band was fortified this year with AL freshmen from Chaffey and Montclair, who added considerably to its spirit. Henry Builes, Drum Major, and David Cook, Assistant, maintained that "people are what make the band so great. Their pride and spirit made us what we are."



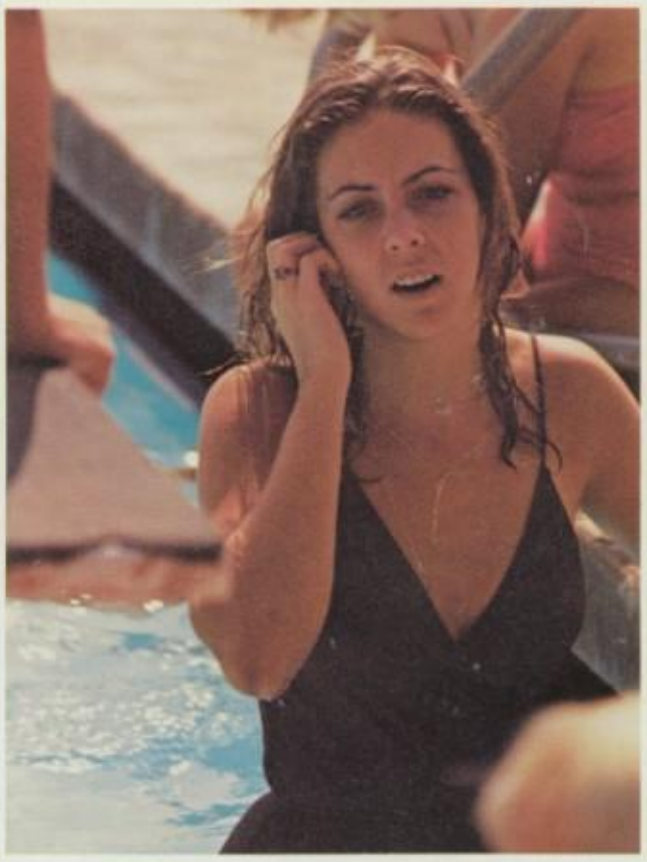
Hot Times in the Old Town





Cars overheated in the parking lots, thermometers pushed perilously toward their tops, while students, staff, and teachers alike fantasized about their own ways to beat the heat. The blistering heat stayed in the valley for four consecutive days in September and October without a moment's relief. These unbearable conditions won students, as well as teachers, four minimum days. In classrooms, temperatures ranged from eighty-six to ninety-four degrees, while outside temperatures soared to over one-hundred and eight degrees.

The overbearing heat and smog caused many problems for students. Sports practices and competitions were cancelled, resulting in transportation mix-ups and upset athletes. Students became restless and spent many afternoons at the beach. But most students seemed to agree that one-hundred-plus temperatures were a small price to pay for afternooon freedom.



Howld you like to get a hold on these?

Phil —
U. can't believe U put up with you this year. Oh well, have a good summer

Transportation: Students Ride Hi (and Lo)

If Cal Worthington could see it, he'd be jealous right down to the tips of his rhinestone cowboy boots. What is "it"? Why, the student parking lot, of course. From luxurious vans to classy low riders to "basic transportation," the lot has its share of the old, as well as the new. At the fancy end of the spectrum is Kenny Bush, who drives a sharp Chevy truck. Equally well-known, but for the opposite reason, is Kevin Chavis, whose Gremlin is an eyesore familiar to most students. Driving in the middle lane, so to speak, is senior Darlene Carroll, who reportedly spent her own hard-earned cash to buy a 1980 Toyota Celica.

Money appears to be the least of students' problems. Despite gasoline prices of $1.32 and high insurance premiums, most students manage to buy a car. But double-digit inflation leaves no one unscathed, and whereas students formerly cruised anywhere their whim took them, many now content themselves with cruising to jobs where they earn the cash to support their expensive habit.

All of this only goes to show why driver education is still the most popular course in the school, and why students wouldn't be caught dead parking in the faculty lot next to clunkers like Mr. Rhodes' Volvo and Mr. Nally's Fiat.

Fashionable Students Dress Up Alta Loma

Baggy pants, oxford shirts, Top Siders: those were just some of the clothes that made the rounds of fashion circles this year at AL. Perhaps the most notable rage in fashion was the punk craze. It inspired such styles as leopard skin miniskirts, silver space suits, two tone hairstyles, and safety pins (strategically placed, of course). But probably the most popular look were the surfer clothes such as Op, Lightning Bolt, and Vans. Students who wanted to convey a comfortable feeling and laid back air stressed that surfer was de riguer.

I stood upon the hills, when heaven's wide arch
Was glorious with the sun's returning march,
And woods were brightened, and soft gales
Went forth to kiss the sun-clad vales.
The clouds were far beneath me; — bathed in light,
They gathered mid-way round the wooded height,
And, in their fading glory shone
Like hosts in battle overthrown,
As many a pinnacle, with shifting glance,
Through the gray mist thrust up its shattered lance
And rocking on the cliff was left
The dark pine blasted, bare, and cleft.

If thou art worn and hard beset
With sorrows, that thou wouldst forget,
If thou wouldst read a lesson, that will keep
Thy heart from fainting and thy soul from sleep,
Go to the woods and hills! — no tears
Dim the sweet look that Nature wears.

I Want a Burger 'n Fries To Go

What do you eat for lunch? When asked, most AL students answered . . . Junk Food! (So what else is new, right?) It appears that most students mainline on junk food, with the biggest favorite being hamburgers and fries, and pizza running a close second. For those who can't bear the thought of sinking their teeth into something solid, a thick, nougaty chocolate bar will do just fine, thank you. And if nutritious food of the kind served in the cafeteria bores you, the donut shop is a short trip. Of course, there are some people who don't eat anything at all, but they're just wasting away to nothing.

American Government Proves Popular Class

American Government is one class which has the courage to try the seemingly impossible: teach students how the government works (or rather, how the government is supposed to work). The course, taught by Mr. Rhodes and Mr. Linzay, is designed to prepare students for political involvement. Though required, the class remains popular. Some students like the teachers, some find the class interesting, while still others enjoy finding out where their money is spent. One criticism: students prefer that the course focus on modern government, and forget the past (not exactly the most astute historical judgment!).

Brace Yourself: A Tin Grin Story

"Tell me when it hurts," says the orthodontist as he hovers over you with pliers and wires. You want to tell him how much it hurts, but with all that cotton and metal in your mouth you can't utter a word. Just when you think it's over, he asks his assistant to "pass the rubber hammer," gives the lower left cuspid band three swift knocks, and as the tears well up in your eyes, his assistant asks, "Would you like a rinse now?" But little did you know this is just the beginning! Wait 'til you bite into that hot, juicy Wendy's hamburger and feel the painful pressure. Mom, do I really have to have braces?

Art Students Strive To Paint Rosy Future

My editor gave me this assignment to write about art, and I'm having trouble. I mean, what can you say about art, especially when you're an unsophisticated clod like me? I had always thought the Hudson River School was a grammar school back east. But Mr. Stevenson, one of AL's art teachers, enlightened me, and explained that, to make it in the art world, you have to be topnotch, and that requires a lot of talent and discipline. He introduced me to senior Martha Blanchard, who's done many paintings and drawings, and who intends to major in art. She has exhibited her work once, and hopes eventually to teach. Well, I'm considerably more sophisticated now, but I still can't draw a straight line.

College Bound Students Seek Info

Seniors are faced with many decisions in preparation for college. Having taken college prep courses throughout their high school years, seniors can take time off on a Saturday and go to Claremont High School or Pomona College where the SAT and ACT tests are administered. These tests and advanced placement tests place students in the right levels of study. Decisions of what college one will go to are also determined by the results of these tests. Financial aid is an important factor in deciding which college to attend, but whatever the choice may be, being equipped to meet the challenge of college is essential.

Ah, Pardon Me, But Your Slip Is Showing

What's the most embarrassing thing that has ever happened to you? Well, there are the usual things like falling in the mud, tripping in class, missing the chair while boarding a ski lift, and of course, running into a car while it was parked. Sylvana Guerrucci says the height of embarrassment is finding out you're in the wrong class—at the end of the period. Dave Cook says he was embarrassed when he bought a school lunch and ate it in front of his friends. Mary Lou Grau was mortified when she jumped the gun at track prelims and, thinking she was ahead of the field, didn't stop until she had run halfway around the track! But you've never really been embarrassed until you've had to ask people what was the most embarrassing thing they'd ever done.

Time Again For . . . 9 Lives To Live

We all know that everyone watches soap operas, but we found some AL students who actually admit to watching them. General Hospital was the favorite of most students, depicting the deceitful and corrupt lives of doctors and nurses. One senior stated that she preferred G.H. because of its involved storyline, and involved is right! Scotty left after his wife Laura ran off with the caretaker of the local disco, Luke, who stole the Black Book from the mob to benefit his career. Other soaps were popular, too, with most students watching two or more a day. No wonder SAT scores keep declining!

I Vant To Be Alone (In Paris, or Rome . . .)

How many times have you been in class with biology (or English, or math) on your face, but the beach (or the river, or the mountains) on your mind? Everybody has an ideal vacation spot, and AL students are no exception. Robin Morgan, for example, wants to go to Maui to see her grandfather. Similarly, Lenore Seylock would like to visit Sweden to meet relatives. More adventurous folk, like Evan Gale, would like to go backpacking in the high Sierras. Gary Wagstaff looks forward to travelling to the Virgin Islands for sunning and surfing. Kelly Gray, who is interested in meeting les garcons, wants to visit Paris. Senior Chuck Knight prefers staying closer to home, namely, the northern California lakes, where he can indulge his favorite pastime: fishing.

What's In A Nickname? Almost Anything You Want

Nickname, pet name, moniker, whatever you want to call it, a lot of AL's students have one. For example, have you met the Blue Bird of Happiness in the halls? You have if you've talked to Robin Austin-Morgan. How about Big Bird, who is actually Chris Feduniw? A nickname is often supposed to be descriptive, but some of the names we discovered are best forgotten: Scum # 1 is Dave Cook, Scum # 5 is Pete Whittenbury. Then there's Slime Tony Siebel, even Killer Laura Triner. The Goochie Brothers, otherwise known as Mark Hawley and Tom Masucci, love to "goochie" poor, unfortunate girls who are unlucky enough to sit in front of them. Goochie, goochie! Then there's Guch Silvanna Guerrucci, Kanette Annette Knauer, and of course, Mongo Tracey Cook.

What's in a name? We're still not sure.

Test Of Your HS Cool: Are You Soph, Jr, or Sr?

1. When do you walk out of the house to meet the school bus?
   a) When you hear it 3 blocks away. (4)
   b) When your mother says, "Dear, the bus is at the corner." (3)
   c) When the driver screams obscenities outside your front door. (2)
   d) None of the above. Your idea of a school bus(t) is having the proctor catch you in the quad without a pass. (1)

2. What is your favorite class?
   a) Differential calculus. (4)
   b) Lunch. (3)
   c) PE. (2)
   d) None of the above, but you have hopes that the school will add "Underwater Basket Weaving" next fall. (1)

3. When do you do your homework?
   a) From the time you finish dinner until you go to bed. (4)
   b) During another teacher's class. (3)
   c) Before the bell in the class in which the homework is due. (2)
   d) None of the above. You always thought "homework" meant vacuuming, washing clothes, doing dishes, etc.

4. How do you define "extracurricular activities"?
   a) Participating in ASB everyday during 3rd period. (4)
   b) Selling candy to get money to send your club to Disneyland. (3)
   c) TPing the campus at 4 am. (2)
   d) Non of the above. You've always performed your extracurricular activities in the backseat of your '74 Dodge. (1)

5. Who is your favorite teacher?
   a) Dr. Gorman, the man with the Ph.D. in math from Stanford. (4)
   b) Mr. Bromley, who never takes attendance. (3)
   c) Mrs. Putman, who is sick 3 out of 5 days each week. (2)
   d) None of the above. Your favorite teacher left school last year to become a disc jockey at a Disco club. (1)

Scoring:
16-20 points: sophomore
11-15 points: junior
6-10 points: senior
5 points: senior with bad case of senioritis

Students Think Big, Set Standards For Ideal HS

Everybody complains about high school, but nobody does anything about it. Some students were given a chance to come up with their opinion of the "ideal high school." Rose Versage stated that "the students, faculty, and administration should work together toward a common goal," namely, meeting the academic and social needs of all students. School spirit and sports were seen as an important factor, and as Jenny Draper observed, "through sports, parents have a chance to get involved and become a part of the school." Additionally, Chris Scott said, "the campus should be well-landscaped, with lots of trees and hedges." Diane Hargrave summed it up when she said that students graduating from the ideal high school "should bring with them memories of happy and joyful times."

Mayor Schlosser Praises City, Advises Students

ALHS isn't the only thing around here that's growing. Mr. Phillip Schlosser, Mayor of Rancho Cucamonga, told us that the city added 38,000 people in the past decade, putting the 1980 census mark at 54,000. The major challenges to the city during an era of such rapid growth are, as Mayor Schlosser mentioned, development of city services, flood control, and education. He also commented on the influence of neighboring freeways and railroads, and on the role the expanding Ontario International Airport will play in the city's destiny. The Mayor also mentioned the proposed regional shopping center, which will provide a tremendous tax boost to the city. Acknowledging America's position in an increasingly competitive world, Mayor Schlosser advised AL's grads to "educate yourselves as highly as possible."

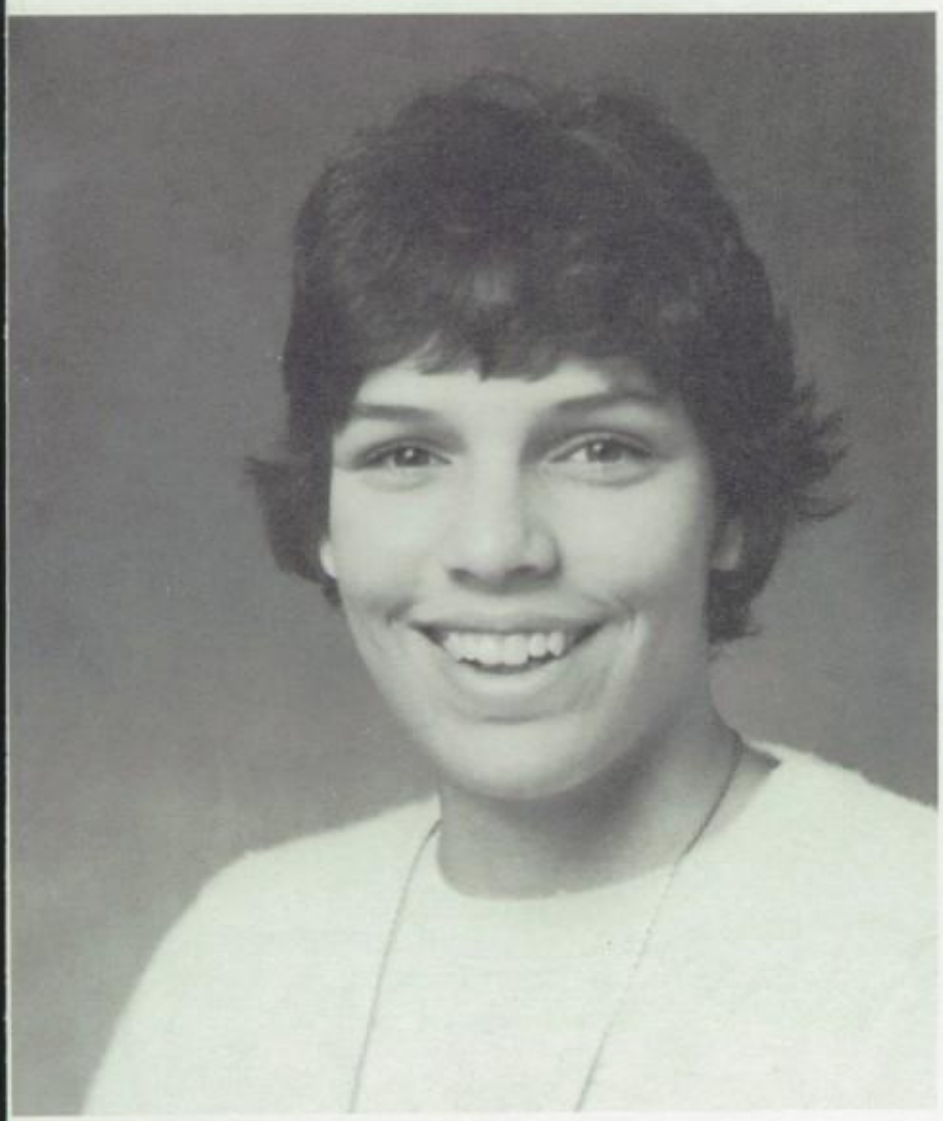
I can't say that I have enjoyed every minute of my four years here because I haven't. I can't say that all of you have been fantastic, because all of you aren't fantastic. That's just the way it is. But I can say thank you to all the people who have touched my life, to all the people who have known me. Thank you. Don't be afraid to dream.

Margie Herber

I would like to express my thanks to all of those whose continued support and encouragement throughout the years made it possible for me to obtain this honor—to my parents, who were always there when I needed them; to my brothers and sisters, who kept the volume on the TV down when I had to study; to my friends at A.L.H.S. (especially Lori, Megan, and Joan) who formed almost my entire social life; and to my dog, who kept his barking down to a minimum as I did my homework. My experiences at A.L.H.S., although not always pleasant, will never be forgotten.

Good luck to all the 1981 graduates of A.L.H.S. May the blessings of God and the John Birch Society be with you always.

SALUTATORIAN



Anna Tucker

Well, Class of 1981, it's finally here, we're finally graduating. But what does this mysterious concept mean? I have searched for the answer and found only another question—"graduating into what!?" Obviously graduating implies, as the dictionary puts it: "being granted a diploma upon the completion of a course of study." . . . but what are the moral and philosophical implications? The very thought of graduating makes us remember things, emotions, places, and people we have discovered in high school. This recollection process in turn gives us some sort of assurance that we have a solid background to help us face the world with. I suppose deep down we all know what graduating means . . . "Watch out life because here all 650 of us come!"

CLASS

Some cool advice for the Class of 1981: Do not take life too seriously; you'll never get out of it alive . . . To err is human, but when the eraser wears out ahead of the pencil, you're overdoing it . . . The university brings out all abilities including incapability . . . To err is human, and so is trying to avoid correcting it . . . If you respect your job's importance, it will probably return the favor . . . Only a mediocre person is always at his best . . . If fifty million people say a foolish thing, it is still a foolish thing . . . When people are free to do as they please, they usually imitate each other . . . All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing . . . Life is an endless process of self-discovery . . . The best reformers the world has ever seen are those who commence on themselves . . . A man has to live with himself, and he should see to it that he always has good company . . . The advantage of doing one's praising for oneself is that one can lay it on so thick and exactly in the right places . . . Never, ever, play leapfrog with a unicorn . . . The trouble with most jobs is the resemblance to being in a dog sled team. No one gets a change of scenery, except the lead dog . . . Life's greatest achievement is in the continual remaking of yourself so that at last you know how to live . . . A man with a new idea is a crank, until the idea succeeds . . . By working faithfully eight hours a day, you may eventually get to be a boss and work twelve hours a day . . . Of two evils, choose neither . . . If you don't know where you are going, you will end up somewhere else . . . Jumping to conclusions seldom leads to happy landings . . . It is more important to do the right thing than to do things right . . . The trouble with our age is all signposts and no destination . . . The universe is full of magical things patiently waiting for our wits to grow sharper . . . Ideas won't keep; something must be done about them . . . There is always an easy solution to every human problem—neat, plausible, and wrong . . . If ambition doesn't hurt you, you haven't got it . . . Make 3 correct guesses consecutively and you will establish a reputation as an expert . . . An expert is one who knows more and more about less and less . . . Technological progress has merely provided us with more efficient means for going backwards . . . Whom the gods wish to destroy, they first call promising . . . Never swap horses crossing a stream . . . There is no education like adversity . . . They are able because they think they are able . . . Many people fail because they conclude that fundamentals simply do not apply in their case . . . Very simple ideas lie within the reach only of complex minds . . . He is well paid that is well satisfied . . . Our bodies are apt to be our autobiographies . . . Never eat prunes when you're hungry . . . It is easier to forgive an enemy than a friend . . . Beware of little expenses; a small leak will sink a great ship . . . The leak in the roof is never in the same location as the drip . . . If you would be loved, love and be lovable . . . The secret of happiness is this: let your interests be as wide as possible, and let your reactions to the things and persons that interest you be as far as possible friendly rather than hostile . . . This above all: to thine own self be true . . . The first years of man must make provision for the last . . . Read the best books first, or you may not have a chance to read them at all . . . Reforms should begin at home and stay there . . . That man is the richest whose pleasures are the cheapest . . . Silence is the unbearable repartee . . . One good turn gets most of the blanket . . . Concealed talent brings no reputation . . . What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar . . . What maintains one vice would bring up two children . . . If you would be wealthy, think of saving as well as of getting . . . Chance makes our parents, but choice makes our friends . . . Unhappiness is not knowing what we want, and killing ourselves to get it . . . Talk is cheap . . . May you live all the days of your life.

Horror Flicks Rate High

What does your typical, average, red-blooded American teenager do with his spare time? Well, sitting through scary horror movies is high on the list of favorites. The gorier the movie, the better. Jr. Scott Scholl seemed to speak for all the aficionados when he said, "I love blood and guts." Sr. Scott Hunley, known in cinematic circles as a horror movie connoisseur, asserted that "The Blob" was "one of the all-time classics and set the style for horror movies to come." However, not all students have the weird constitutions necessary to sit through one of these blood-curdlers. Jrs. Karen Dumont and Valinda DePompa, for example, when they saw "Friday the Thirteenth," said they wanted "to leave the theater and sit in the restroom." After the same movie, Tiffany McNeil and Kelly Gray were so unnerved that they had nightmares for two weeks. Sr. Sue Chase, who confesses to having been scared only once, during a Count Dracula movie, said she "absolutely loved" "The Shining." So, one word of warning to you: If you are an "Alien" on "Prom Night," which happens to fall on "Friday the Thirteenth," and "He Knows You're Alone," better try "Shining" him on.

Vast Wasteland Grows Vaster; TV Looks Good & That's Bad

Did you know that:

—nearly all homes in the USA have a TV set?
—the average family watches TV 40 hours a week?
—the average child aged 2 to 5 spends a third or more of total waking hours watching TV?
—the average American watches TV 1200 hours a year and reads books for less than 5 hours a year?
—by the time a person is 18, he's witnessed an average of 18,000 murders on American TV?
—crooks make up 17% of all TV characters (vs. 1% or less in real life) and 65% of them are involved in violence?
—"heavy" TV viewers are more fearful, anxious, and suspicious of the world than "light" viewers?
—for most children, the more TV they watch, the worse they do in school?
—heavy TV viewing may stunt the growth of the imagination?

Now that you know all of that, is there anything good that can be said about TV? Well, for starters, there's always "Charlie's Angels."

Read Any Good Books Lately?

Hello again! This is your friendly roving reporter asking the question, "What have you read lately?" But even this hardened reporter was unprepared for the answer: "Nothing!" It appears that reading, like the fine arts of conversation and thinking, is succumbing to the allure of television. Of the few people we found who have been reading, most reported especially liking mysteries, romances, and science fiction. Petra Nisi, for example, a foreign exchange student from Germany, read Anna and the King and commented that it was a "good book." Contemporary American authors are in favor with some students. Sheri Sage read Michener's Centennial, and Pam Hall liked Looking For Mr. Goodbar. No list of favorite reading would be complete without the classics, and Gail Bader told us she had read Little Women and The Red Badge of Courage. Bryan Bailey enjoyed The Catcher In the Rye, a perennial student favorite. Of course, reading isn't limited to fiction. Gary Wagstaff, for example, likes both biography and autobiography, while Jeri McMullen is interested in wildlife and law enforcement.

NOTICE OF TARDINESS

Date Jan. 15 1981

Joe Gardner (Student's Name) was tardy today to Comp. for College (class) (period) without an acceptable excuse for the 2nd time.

I am responsible for taking this notice home to my parent/guardian.

Joe Gardner (Student's Signature)

The reason given was I was walking to school this morning and some Iranians captured me again. I karate chopped them off of me, just like the Navy Admiral showed me the last time they captured me. I told those fools not to mess with me but they wouldn't listen. Hopefully they learned their lesson so I won't be late anymore. Sorry about the inconvience.

If this is a second tardiness, the student may have a conference with the teacher. When a third tardiness occurs, a parent contact will be made. It is hoped that prompt and decisive action on the part of both home and school will result in a more successful educational experience. If you have any questions, please call me after you have read this notice.

A-2(2/79)(11) ☐ Quarter Class ☒ Semester Class

Sincerely, Dr. Gorman (Teacher)

Almost everyone has filled out one of these familiar forms at one time or another, and a trend seems to be developing in reasons for being tardy. The most popular reason is probably "a jammed locker." Other widely-used tardy excuses are: getting out of class late; going to the bathroom; talking to the counselor. Other run-of-the-mill excuses include: missing the bus; sleeping in; talking to the previous teacher; making a phone call; not hearing the bell. But as any teacher will explain, tardy excuses range from the ridiculous to the sublime. For example, one student explained that she was late because Martians came to earth to discuss world policies with her. Another wrote that he had been captured by a UFO which transferred his molecules to another planet. One poor student was set upon by a green monster in the hallway. But then there is a group of students whose fertile imaginations make them world-class tardy excuse writers, a true breed apart. Imagine not being able to walk fast, for example, because your foot was stuck in a tuba. Or that a bird swooped down and picked you up. Or that the elephant you were riding to school was slow. One student even claimed to have been mugged by Australian Eskimos. On the other hand there are always a few people who know when the jig is up: "I was just plain late."

Boy, Does That Make Me Mad!

"Right in the middle of my favorite TV show, I hear my mother calling from the kitchen, 'Tom, take out the garbage.' It's little things like this that make me really mad," says Tom Dietl. Everybody, students and teachers alike, has a pet peeve. Mr. Nursement, of the Industrial Arts Department, for example, said, "When I finish a demonstration and ask if there are any questions, and there is no response; but 5 minutes later, someone comes to me and asks me how to do it." Dottie Ellias reported that lunatic drivers upset her, "especially people who get their licenses at K-Mart or out of a bubble-gum machine." The English department's Mrs. Christensen, facing a Tepee Times deadline and finishing a term paper as well, said she was bothered by "People (like you) who ask me dumb questions while I'm putting together my college research paper." People who are prejudiced upset Lisa Anspach. Michelle Verstraeten said people make her angry who are lazy in class, but then complain about the low grades they get. Senior P. Dexter said he was "really bugged" by teachers who cancel tests.

The State of the (S)language

Hey man, whatever happened to the good old English language? I mean, how come all these teachers are getting jazzed about the way we talk? They gotta learn to mellow out. The way some of them talk is really off the wall. Like, take my social studies teacher, for example. I was tellin' him about this massively fine party me and my chick went to. We both got wasted to the max; it was a real pig out. Man, this teacher looked at me like I was a geek. He didn't understand a thing I said. It about blew my mind. Or take my father. I was tellin' him my chick was a ten, a real primo. All he does is get upset and tell me she's too young for me. Can you feature that? Y'know, my philosophy is, be casual. Life is just one great big trip. Why make it a bummer by gettin' tight jaws about the words people use? Like I was sayin' to this too hip chick I know, whatever happened to the good old English language?

Work Experience Gives Useful Lessons

"The working student is one brave and strong enough to ask for and face the responsibilities of adulthood early," says Department of Education chairman JoAnn Henkel. "I believe that this early exposure and practice in the trials and tribulations of the world develops a personality more able to cope with life happily." Students can become accustomed to these "trials and tribulations" in Work Experience, often thought of as a community classroom where students can learn while working on a job. Credits are determined by the number of hours spent working and by the number of course lessons completed.

There are 3 branches of work experience. General work experience is the most popular because students earn money while working. They usually work after school and report to class on Tuesdays and Wednesdays where student employees turn in checkstubs and complete assigned course lessons. The Regional Occupation Program (ROP) offers classes in dental and hospital services, retail careers, cosmetology, construction, and a host of other trades. The third branch of work experience is Exploratory, which allows students to volunteer their time and services to companies which need extra help, such as hospitals.

Most of the jobs open hire students sixteen years or older. Although many students would prefer to have jobs which would eventually lead to stable careers, federal law requires students to be at least 18 years old for these positions.

Newcomers Join AL Staff, Give School Rave Reviews

Sophomores weren't the only new faces on campus this year. Ulla Bauers (Social Studies); Jim Hamilton, Jill Pecaro, and Bonnie Welch (Special Education); Mary Pletke (Science); and Kathy Johnson (Business) joined the teaching staff. Paul Sage joined the counseling staff, and Gloria (Guzman) Jones became the Student Service Center Coordinator.

For Mr. Hamilton and Mrs. Johnson, AL is their first reaching position. Mr. Bauers, returning from a leave of absence, previously taught at Chaffey HS for 22 years. Mrs. Pecaro is continuing her education, working toward a master's degree in learning handicapped education. Mrs. Welch is an English major with degrees from Cal State LA and San Francisco State. Mrs. Jones continues her education as a psychology major. Mr. Sage starts here with 18 years of experience as a counselor at Chaffey HS, while Mrs. Pletke comes here after teaching in New Jersey. To a man (and woman) they all expressed pleasure at being at AL, praising its friendliness.

AL's Own Energetic Teacher Sees Problems, Saves $$$

Remember how Mr. Wizard used to perform all those scientific tricks on TV? AL has its own "Mr. Energy" who's been performing some pretty neat tricks of his own. Martin Balding, metal teacher in the Industrial Arts Department, has been formally studying energy conservation for about five years. In 1979 he formed AL's first energy class which, from its beginnings, has been searching out all of the school's mechanical blunders. As a result, the school has saved about $30,000 in the last year and a half.

Remarking that energy costs have gone up 600% since the school was built in 1963, Mr. Balding estimates that AL can still save about 20% in energy in the next year. Administrators, perennially searching for money, have been happy to cooperate with Mr. Balding's class. $30,000, after all, buys a lot of pencils and paper.

Oh, and by the way, will you shut off the light when you leave the room please?

New AP Likes Job, Praises Spirit of Staff, Students

As the Sisunga appears, Earl Miller has just finished his first year as AL's Assistant Principal for Pupil Personnel Services. That rather lengthy title translates into responsibility for supervision of the counselors, monitoring of attendance and discipline problems, and generally ensuring that school runs smoothly for students, and vice-versa. Undaunted by all that (and more) Mr. Miller says that the job "has been very enjoyable so far." Remarking that all jobs in education are hard to varying degrees, he views his job as an opportunity to develop new programs to meet student needs. The best part of his job, he feels, is that he comes into contact with a large number of students, and that he still has an occasional opportunity to do some counseling. "The counselors and teachers at AL are very good people." Much of the time, Mr. Miller can be found walking around campus, talking with students, listening to problems, offering solutions, and generally being visible.

Looking For Information? Check Out This Library

"Reading maketh a full man," said Francis Bacon, and AL's library stands ever at the ready to assuage your appetite, with weighty tomes and slim volumes, with periodicals and reference works, and with a staff of librarians brim-full of information. If you haven't been there lately (and some students stay away from the place, although why, we couldn't imagine), the library is experiencing growing pains. The problem, paradoxically, is not enough books, and not enough space for them.

Imagine, if you can, students who are so anxious to begin reading that they walk out of the library without checking out their books. To stop these bad reading habits the library installed a "3M Tattle Tape Book Detection System (The title alone is enough to stop you!), which emits a whistling noise to wake up the offending student (and the librarian).

Mrs. Rayburn, the librarian, assists students with help from Carmen Alba and Ellen Kluge. Betty Butts and Judy Reickenbacker are in charge of audio-visual.

What Are They Driving At?

Best Possible Curriculum

It's a general rule in the bureaucracy that if you want to bury an idea, you send it to a committee for consideration. But all rules have exceptions, and so does this one. AL's own local exception is the Local Curriculum Steering Committee (LCSC). This is the unheralded group which reviews and approves course proposals. In other words, if you're studying it, they've already checked it out and approved it.

The committee, composed of representatives from the various departments, is under the chairmanship of Bob Fikes, and meets once a month. When asked about curricular change at AL, Mr. Fikes suggested that the biggest change has probably been the graduation requirements for the classes of '79 through '82. Asked about educational trends, Mr. Fikes foresaw an increase in classes emphasizing the workday world, rather than higher education. State-mandated competency tests have brought extra work to the LCSC because they must have its approval.

Mrs. Anderson, AL's Nurse, Serves All Health Needs

Dorothy Anderson is one of the intrepid few who have served the needs of AL students since the school opened in 1963. Prior to coming here, she served as a school nurse in Pennsylvania, where she also did psychiatric and medical-surgical nursing. Asked about trends in student health care, Mrs. Anderson said that she sees more eye infections, because of eye make-up. Stomach aches are a problem because many students don't eat breakfast. Her biggest frustration, she said, was coping with large number of students in the office at one time, all clamoring for "relief." She also regrets not having time for health counseling before sending ill students home. Mrs. Anderson reports few problems, although she occasionally has trouble with "fakers" who want to frequent the nurse's office to get out of class. Asked what she especially liked about her job, she replied that no day is ever the same; there are always new problems to assess. Students as a whole, she says, are courteous and well-mannered.

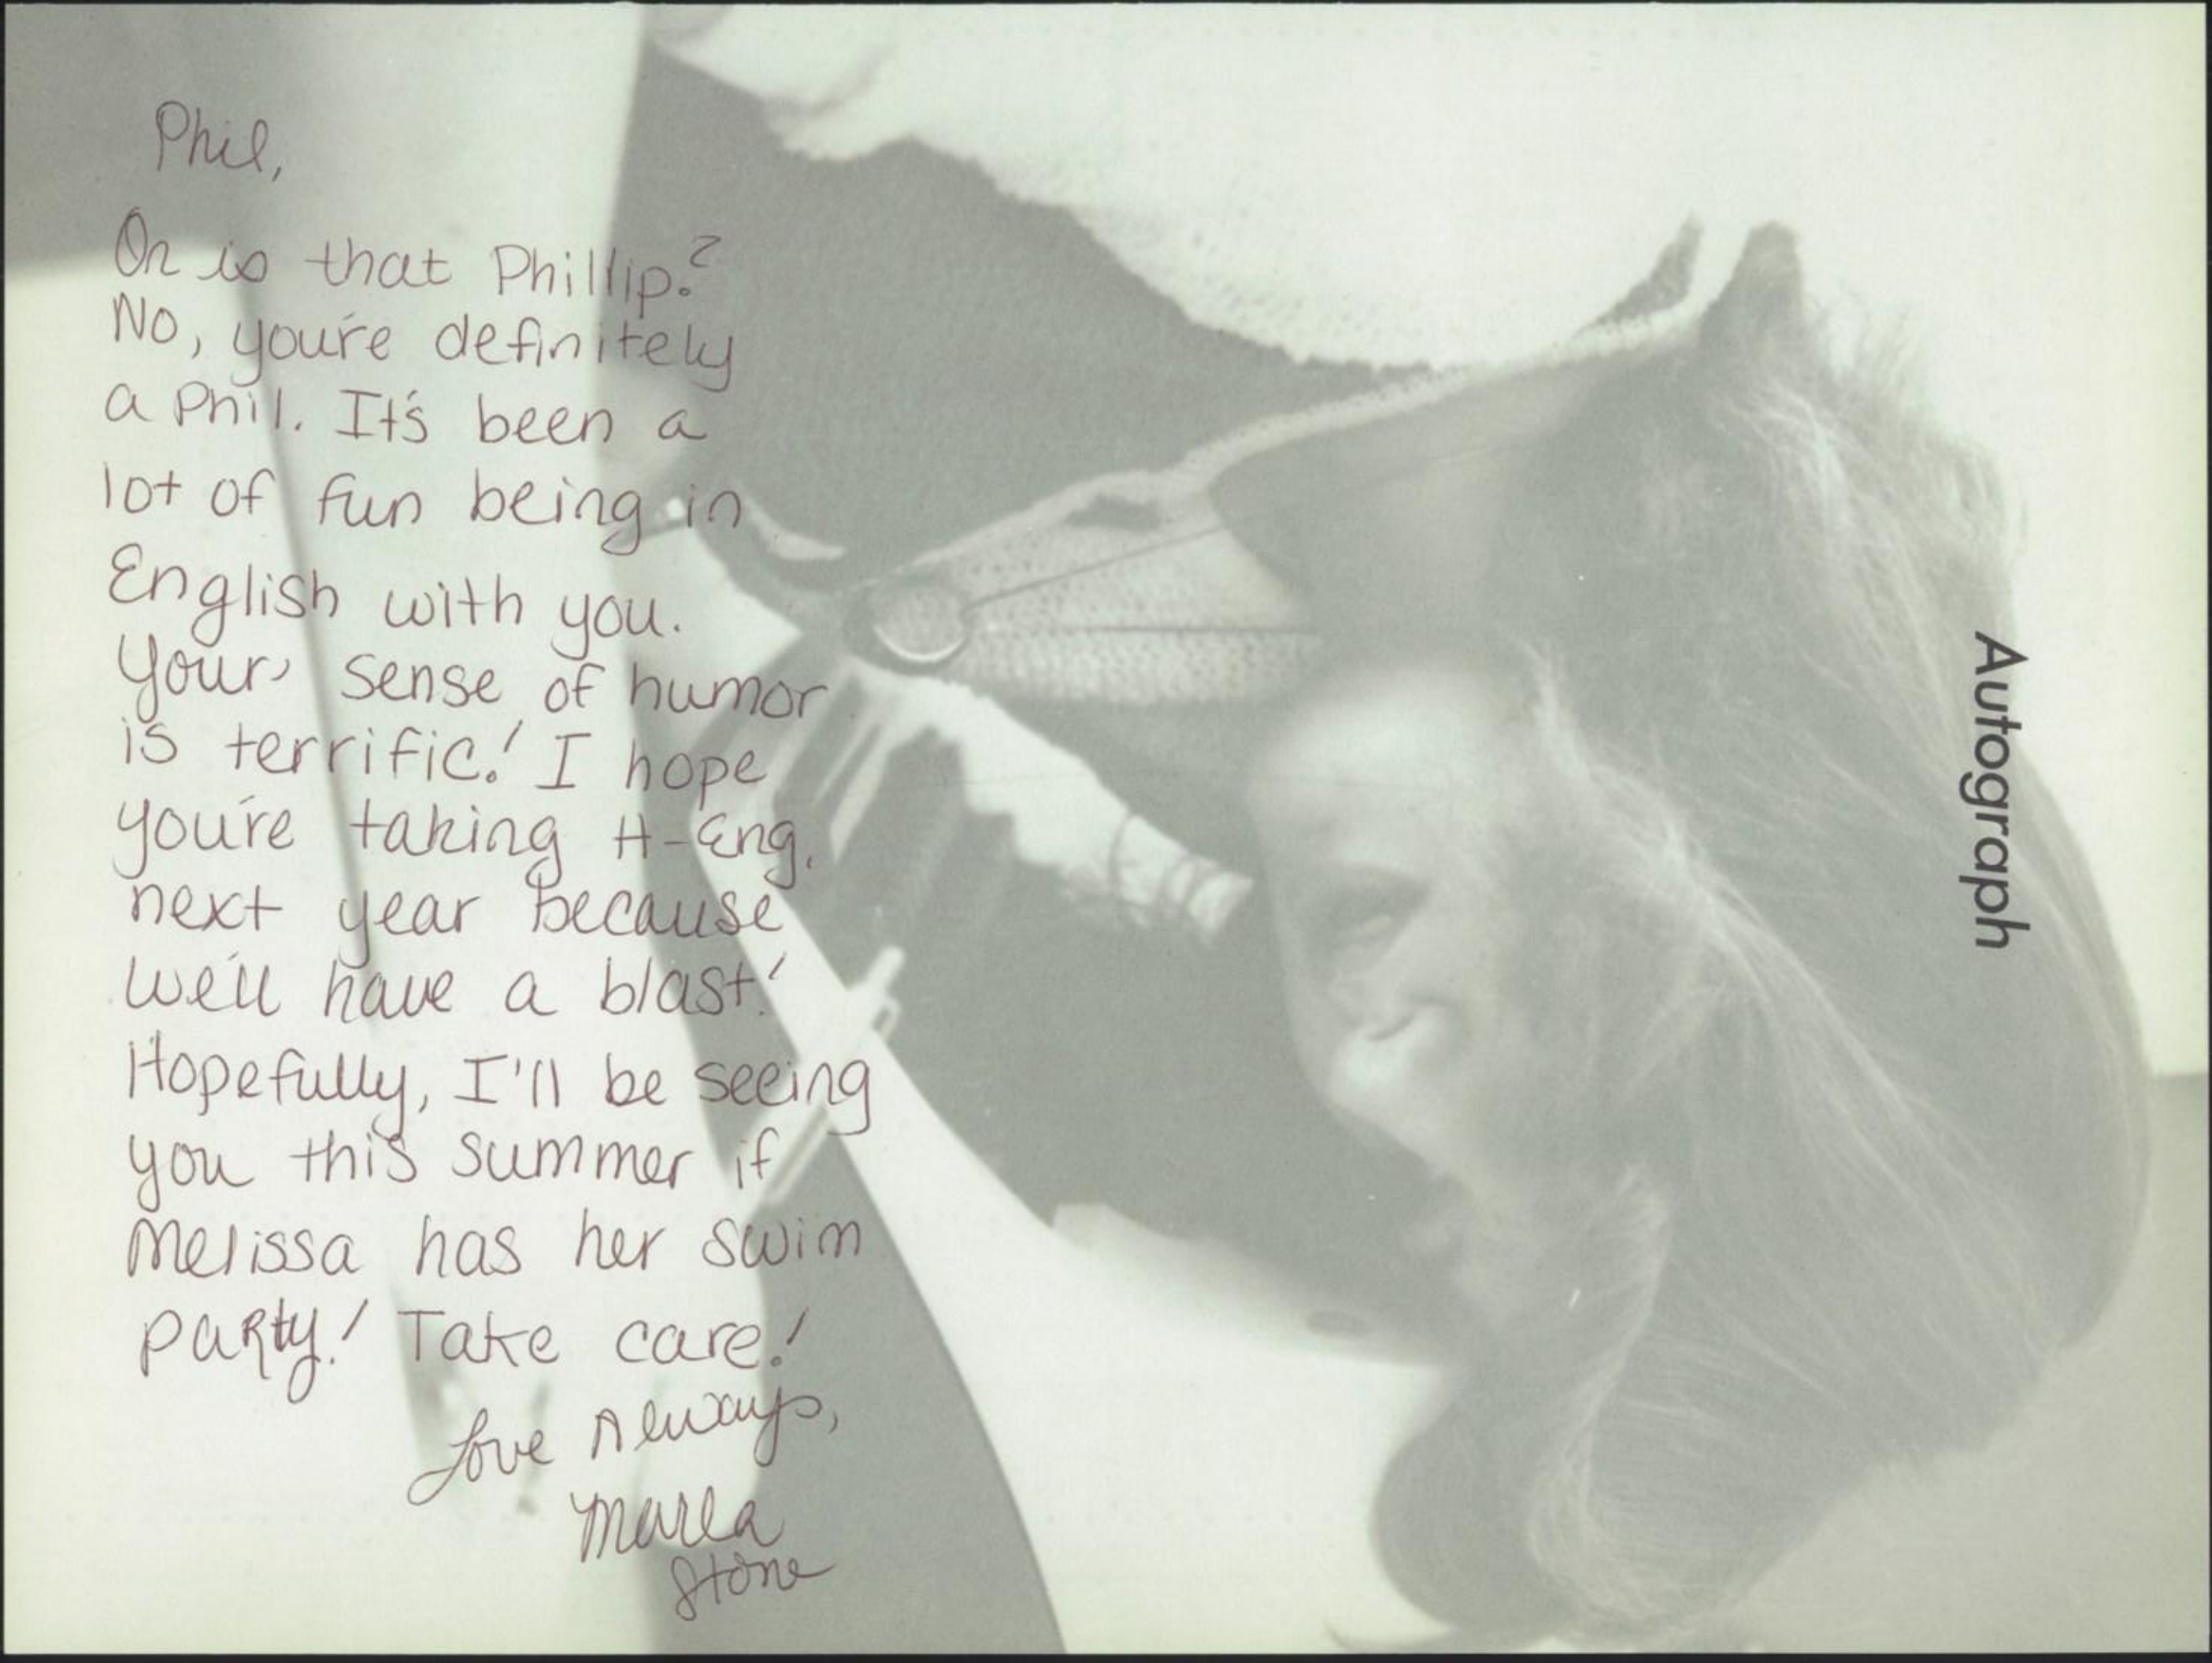
Teachers Go To School, Improve Classroom Skills

In an attempt to improve their effectiveness in the classroom, AL's teachers this year went through a series of in-service meetings covering such topics as classroom management, time management, and the five-step lesson plan. The entire course, which met five times, was planned and conducted by a Staff Development Committee, consisting of Ray Rayburn, Earl Miller, Tom Nally, Louise Pavey, and Linda Schneider. The sessions were taught by Anne Tolstoy of the Upland Elementary School District through its RAISD program (Realizing Achievement Through Improved Staff Development). After attending sessions, teachers were encouraged to observe each other in the classroom as they attempted to implement their new skills.

Staff development is not unique to AL, as it is being utilized on the other Chaffey District schools. In 1979 the district committed itself to supporting growth plans for all of its certificated personnel. AL has been a leader in the program.



Phil,

Oh is that Phillip.? No, you're definitely a Phil. It's been a lot of fun being in English with you. Your sense of humor is terrific! I hope you're taking H-Eng. next year because we'll have a blast! Hopefully, I'll be seeing you this summer if Melissa has her swim party! Take care!

Love always,

Girls' Volleyball Spikes Opponents

Varsity volleyball kept its high standard of winning again this season. Coach Stephanie Rudolph called Claremont High School the team's only real competition in an otherwise easy season. Michelle Boyette, Lisa Vargo, and Diane Taylor led the team, which had few injuries. Exceptional performances by all team members brought enthusiastic support from AL fans. Even with the graduation of two team members, Coach Rudolph looks forward to another winning season next year.

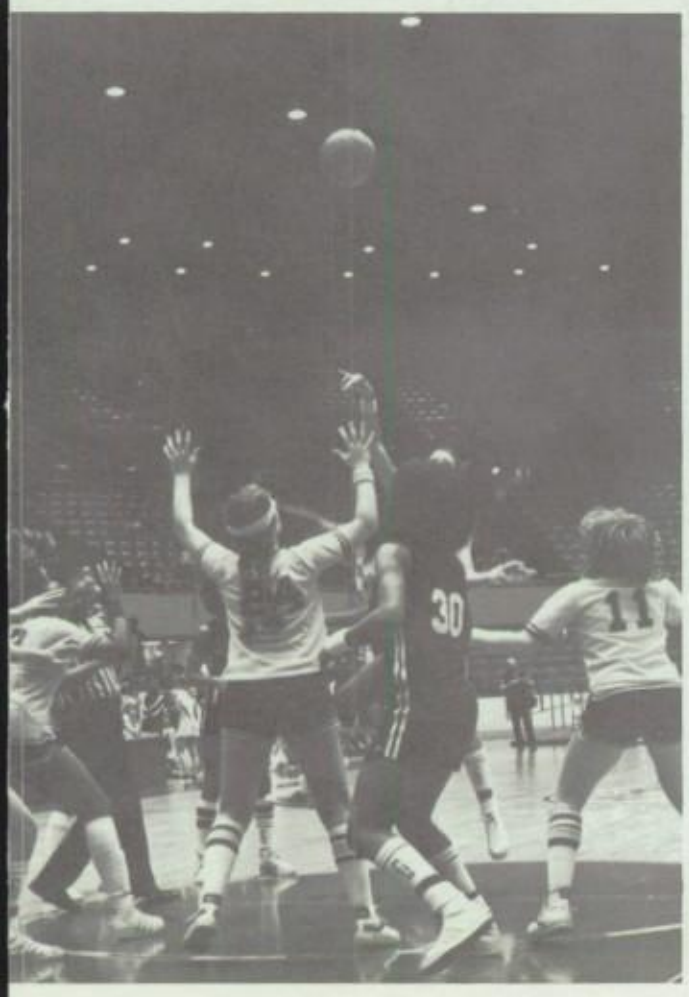
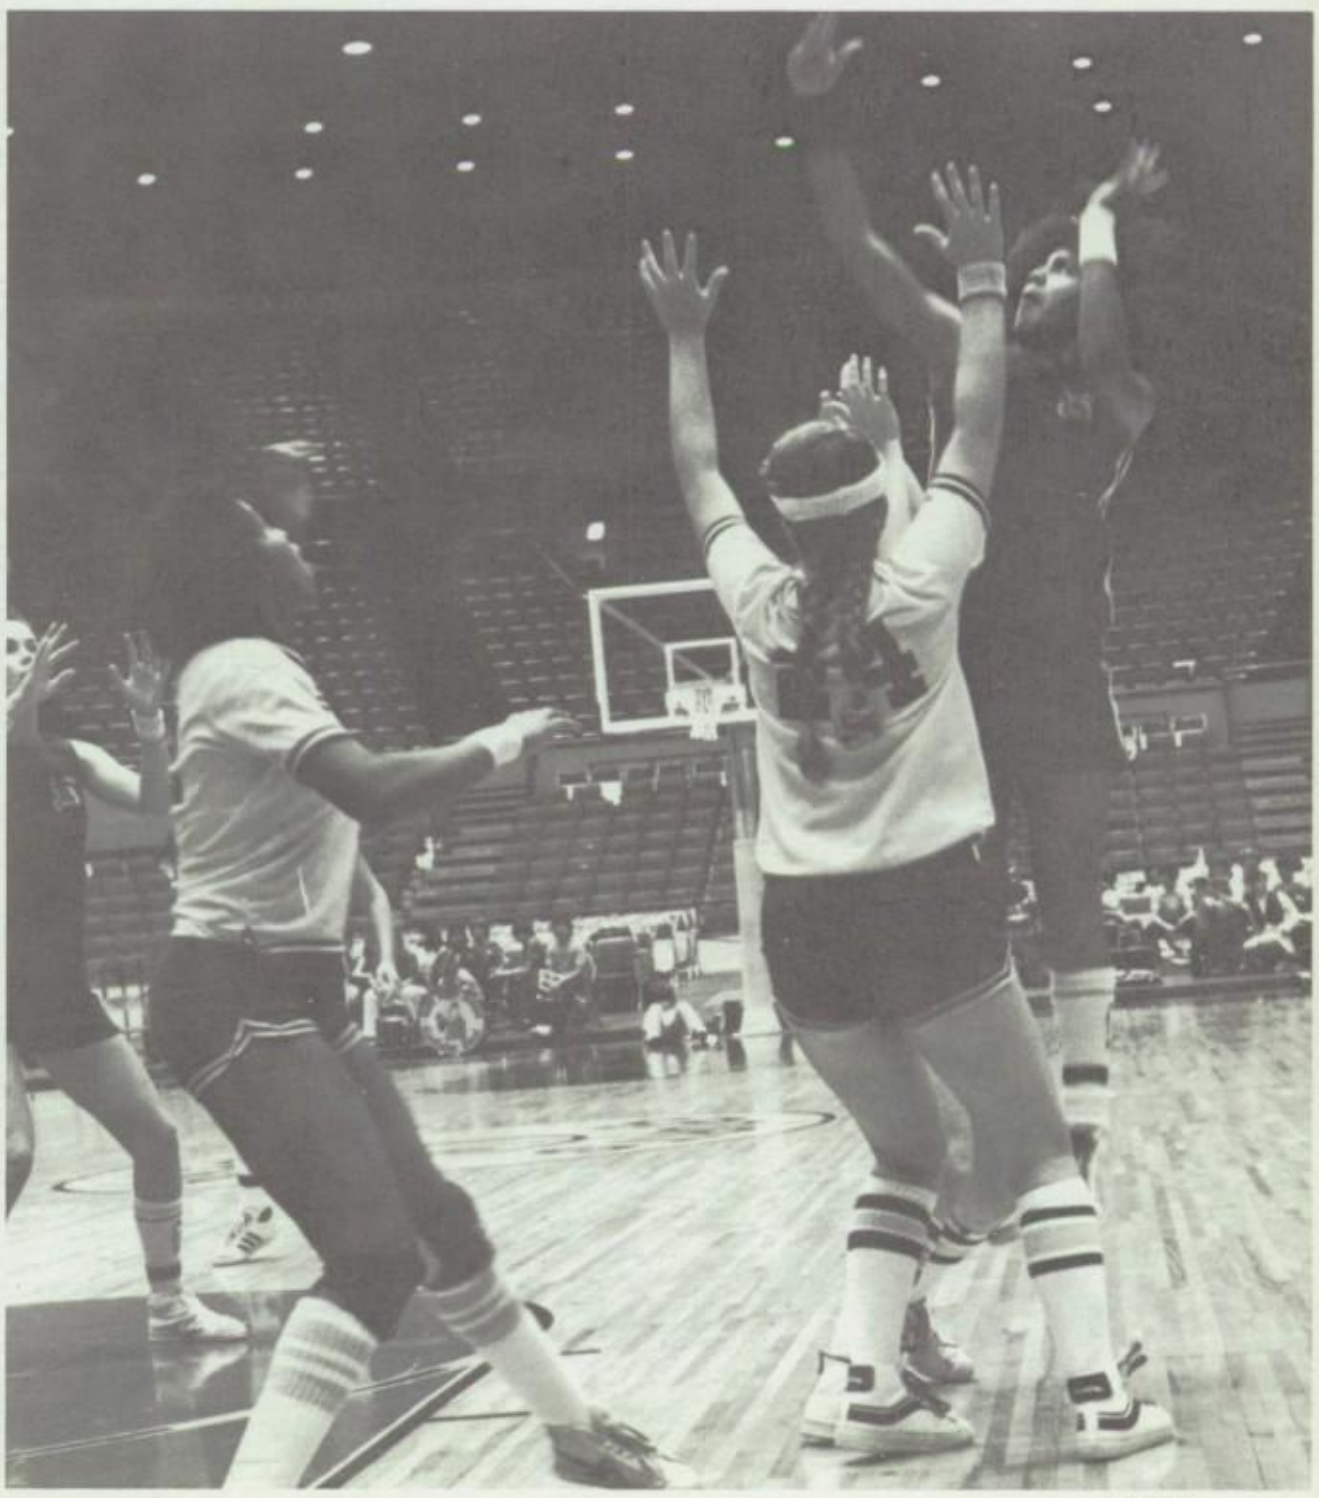
GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM GOES TO CIF FINALS, LOSES CROWN TO GAHR

For the fourth time in four years, the ALHS Girls' Varsity Basketball Team, coached by Harley Lovitt, went to CIF finals. After compiling a 14-0 record in league play this year, the Braves, who won the crown in 1978 and 1980, lost it this year to Richard Gahr High School of Cerritos. The final score was 65-51. Starters Shelda Arceneaux, Michelle Boyette, Theresa Johnson, Tami Towle, and Kristi Yeager led the team in a valiant effort, but the small, yet fast, Gahr team forced turnovers and outrebounded AL to take the title.



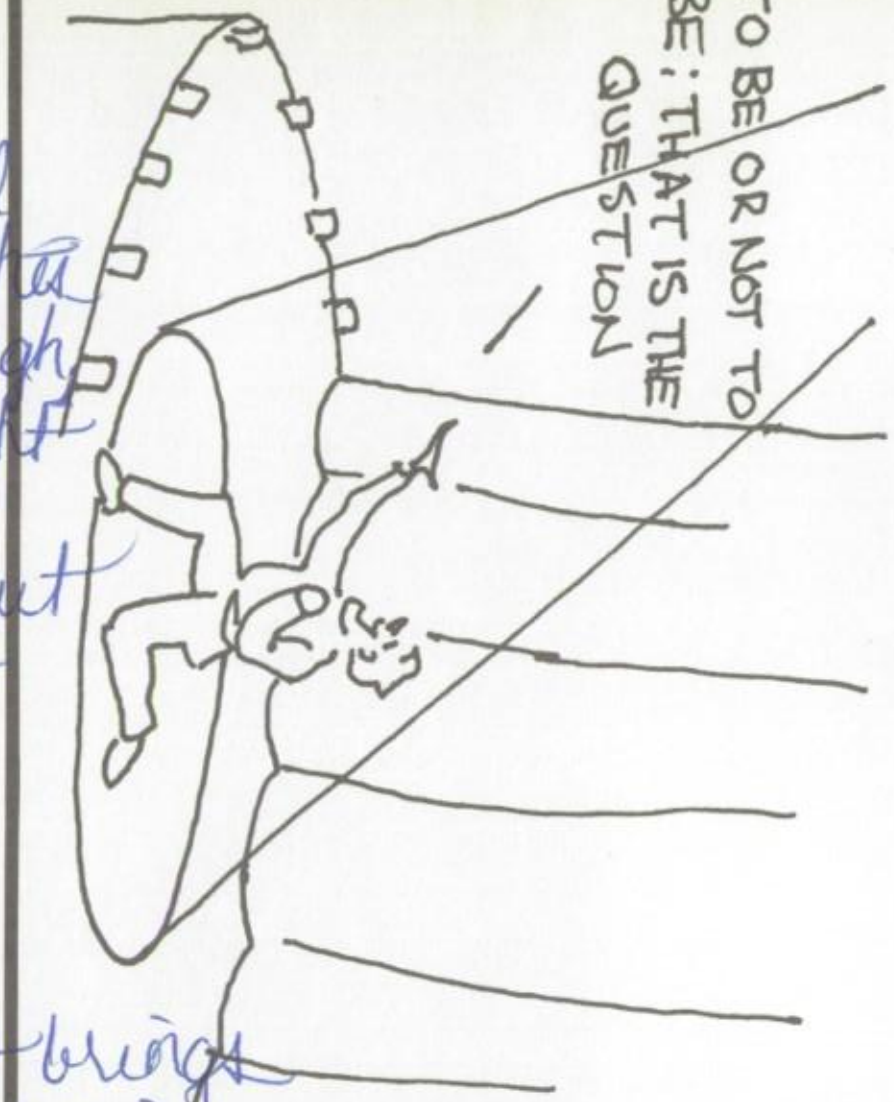


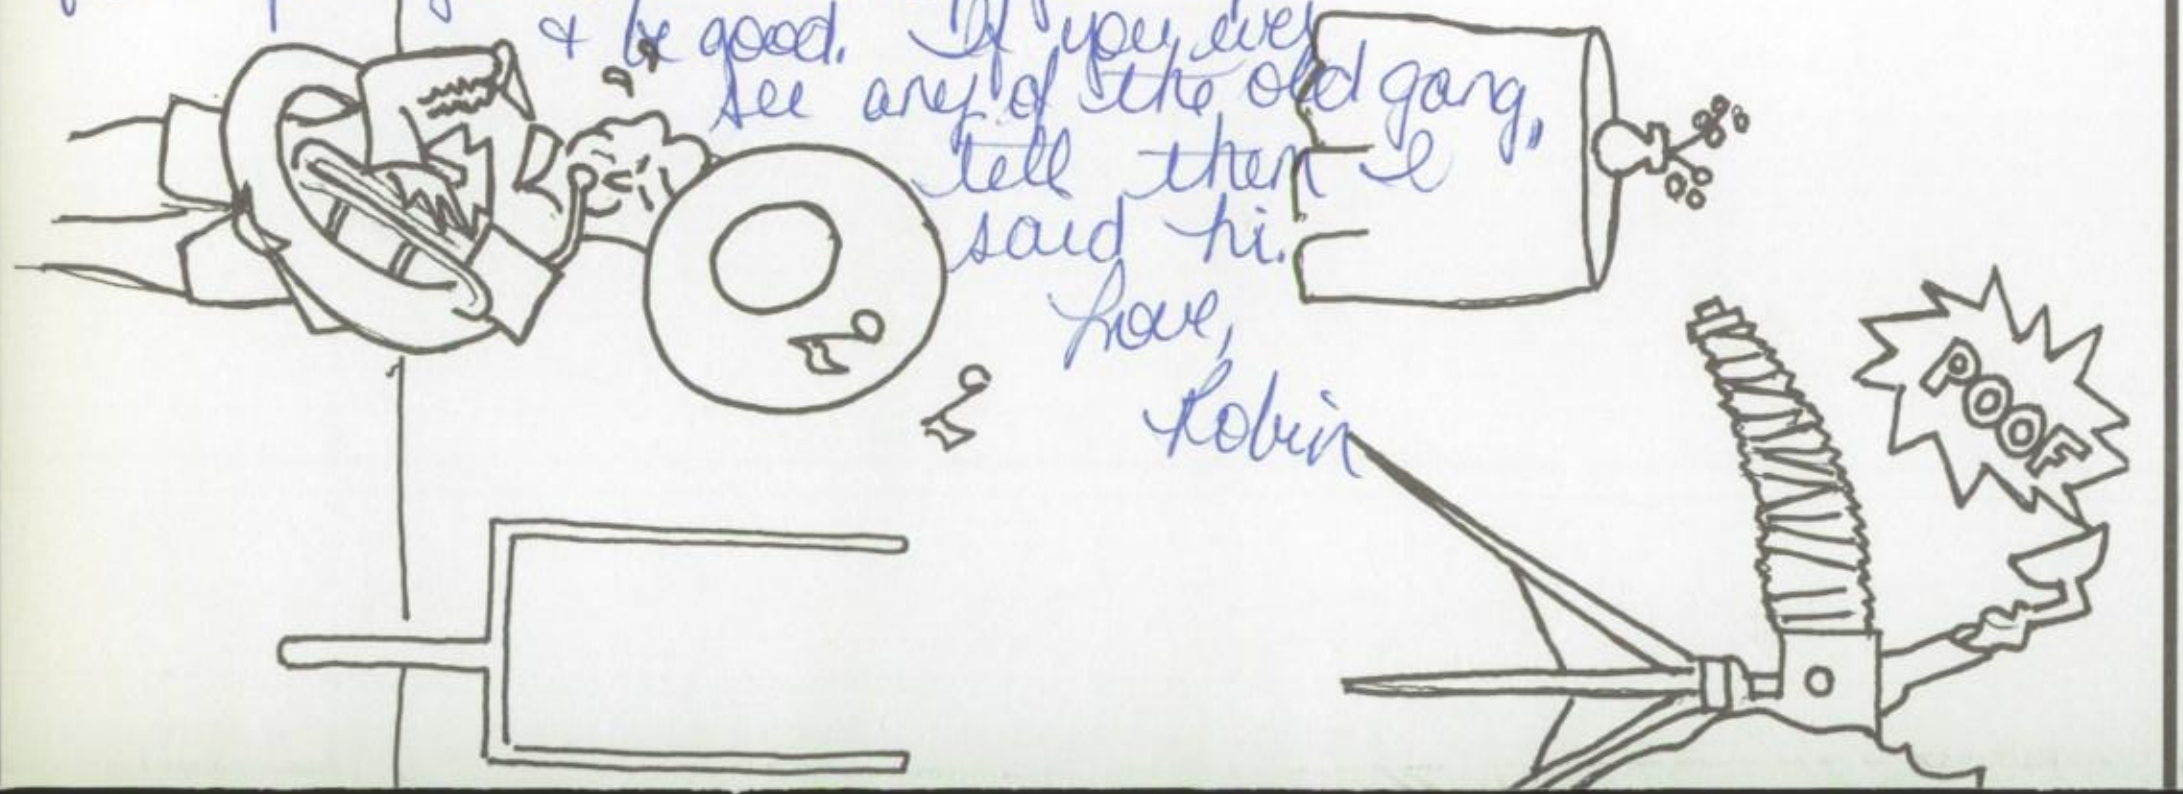
Phil,

I was so surprised when I first saw you at this school. Really though I wasn't sure right at first if it was you or not. But then I knew it had to be. I'm really glad, though, that we had a class together so we could talk some. It brings back a lot of memories from Jr. High. Take care of yourself & be good. If you ever see any of the old gang, tell them I said hi.

Love,

Robin





Phil,

You've made this year a lot more exciting than it would have been without you. I hope next year you have a lot of fun and give some more poor insanity-ish a hard time.

Good Luck,

Henry Hansen.

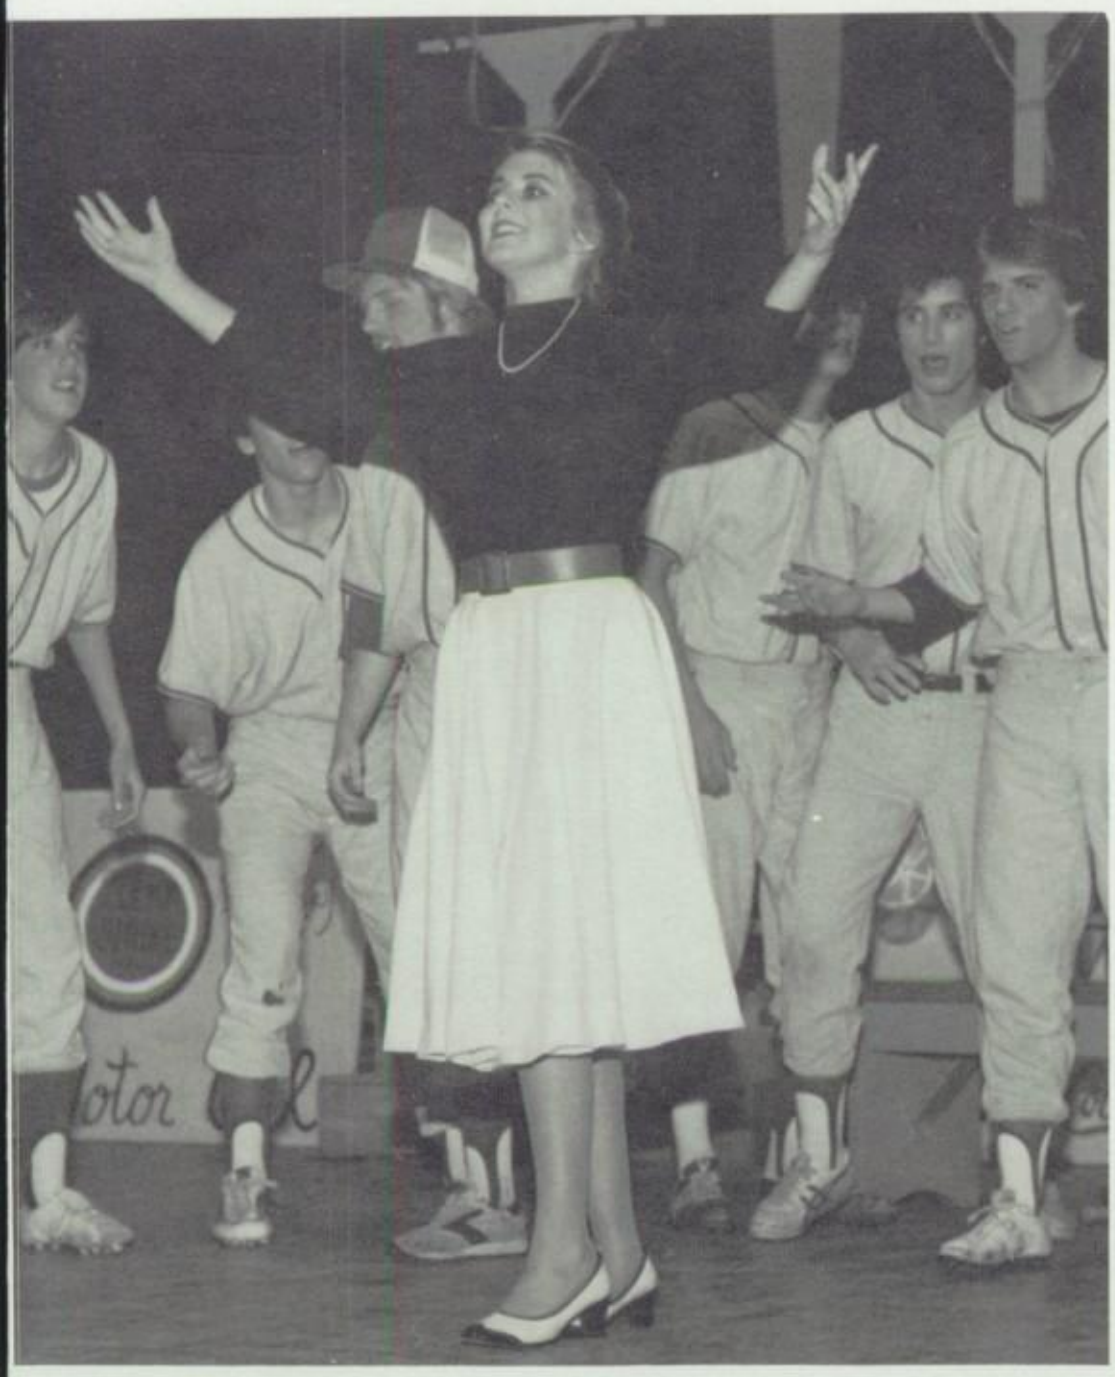
DAZZLES WITH DELIGHT



DESPITE RAIN, FINANCE, AND PRODUCTION PROBLEMS, THE SHOW GOES ON

After seven weeks of rehearsal, Damn Yankees opened in the AL auditorium on March 19 for a three day engagement. The perennially popular show is the story of a rabid baseball fan who sells his soul to the devil to gain a long ball hitter for his favorite team, the Washington Senators.

For a time, it appeared that there would be now show at all this year. However, prroblems of set design and production costs were overcome. Two groups, the "Alta Loma Angels" and the "C-Note Club," helped with financing.

Under the direction of Don Bowers, the show featured Anna Tucker, Bill Cox, and Dennis Meikle in the lead roles. Janelle Tinkham and Kimberley Claybrook choreographed the dance numbers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Hailing from Hamburg, West Germany, Petra Nisi especially enjoys the southern California climate and Mexican food. At AL, she likes being able to choose her own classes, which she finds less demanding than those of her homeland. Petra says she had no trouble adjusting to junk food and places like McDonald's, but she did have to get used to the culture and new customs.

After talking with a friend who was a foreign exchange student, Mignon Bielfeldt, of Heiloo, Holland, decided to become one herself. Speaking about America, she says she enjoys the people and the warm weather most. In school, she likes the teachers and enjoys the luxury of being able to choose her own classes from a wide variety. Since arriving in the U.S., Mignon has had a dream come true: owning her own horse.

Agneta Berggren, from Stockholm, Sweden is staying in the U.S. with relatives. Some of the things she likes most about Al are the teachers, fun classes like sewing and cooking, and the fact that she doesn't have required classes as she does at home. Not so pleasing to her are the long class periods and the same classes each day; in Sweden she had twelve to thirteen different classes, and changed to different ones each day. Agneta likes America, but says that at first it was hard getting used to everything. A favorite hobby is team handball which Agneta is unable to play here since no one knows how to play it. Truly cosmopolitan, her favorite cuisine is Mexican food.

Carla Fincato, from Sao Paulo. Brazil got the idea to become a foreign exchange student from her brother, who studied in the U.S. last year. Carla, whose hobbies include wind surfing and jazz dancing, comments that the most difficult thing about being a foreign exchange student is speaking English and meeting many new people. At AL, she likes being able to choose her own classes, of which her favorite is Performing Arts.

The International Foreign Language Club was formed to promote a better understanding of foreign cultures. Formerly known as the French Club, the group combined with interested Spanish speakers to form an organization of language enthusiasts. This year, besides carolling at Christmas, the club held an international exchange student meeting. As increasing numbers of students begin their study of language, the club hopes to gain recognition and members.

Despite a valiant effort, the Braves were unable to stop an offensively powerful Ganesha team, who won in the Homecoming game, 49-26.

Homecoming Activities Preserve AL Traditions

AL's Homecoming Dance and football game were held this year on November 7th and 8th. In the game held on Friday night, the Braves played host to the Ganesha Giants at Chaffey College Stadium. Ganesha scored three touchdowns early in the game, but AL came to within 9 points of catching them early in the fourth quarter. Scott Tindal found Larry Avila open for a 23 yard pass, and Avila also scored from the one yard line. However, the Ganesha offense was too much for the Braves, who lost 49-26.

On a lighter note, Bonnie Kirker was chosen Homecoming Queen. The senior Princesses were Lisa Michaels, Lynn Pierick, Ronda Proctor, Tracey Stotz, and Anna Wolski. On Saturday night, the Homecoming Dance was held at the Diamond Bar Country Club from 8 until midnight. "Southern Pacific" provided the music for the dance, whose theme was "Everytime I Think of You." The dance, which was quite crowded, was aptly summed up by junior Dominique Meyer, who said, "It was lovely." Senior Tom Dietl offered another viewpoint when he said, "The dance was great, but it was even better afterward."

KING'S BALL

"All of My Love" proved to be a good theme for this year's King's Ball. The dance was held at Rain Cross Square in Riverside, with music provided by Eclipse. The Court included King Steve Marcucci and Princes Mike Thomas, Mitch Bourg, Kevin Chavis, David Kuresa, and Jeff Rosenbach.

The court was informed of their nominations at 5 a.m. on Feb. 5 when they were kidnapped and taken out to breakfast and then on to school while still in their pajamas. All were present with the exception of David, who was in Utah checking up on a football scholarship.

Commented Mike, "It has been an experience which has provided me with valuable memories that will remain with me for a long time." When asked if they enjoyed the dance, all agreed they had a good time.

MECHA CELEBRATES CINCO DE MAYO

Traditionally, Mexican-Americans celebrate Cinco de Mayo with a variety of festivities. This year was no exception as M.E.Ch.A. elected a Queen and Court to preside over the day's events. These included a Mexican bread sale, a pinata, and a ballet folklorico, all intended to educate the community about Mexican culture. Cinco de Mayo commemorates the victory of Mexico over the French who, under Napoleon III, had been trying to conquer Mexico. The French, arrogantly overconfident, attacked the city of Puebla, which was under the command of Ignacio Zaragoza, and were soundly defeated. Although the battle of Puebla was a small action, the outcome fired the Mexicans with a sorely needed self-confidence and, ever since, the Cinco de Mayo has been a special holiday, as meaningful to Mexicans as the Alamo was to Texans.

A GLANCE BACK: THAT WAS

SEPT.

Reagan and Carter are deadlocked. Strikes in Poland come to an end. Ordinary People debuts to rave reviews. The fall TV season gets off to a faltering start as actors remain on strike.

NOV.

Kosygin steps down as the Soviet Union's Prime Minister. The Phillies beat the Kansas City Royals, four games to two, in the World Series. A former movie star wins the Presidency. Voyager I has a close encounter with Saturn. The militants agree to hand over the hostages to the Iranian government. NBC projects Reagan the winner before polls close on the West Coast. Robert De Niro is a knockout in Raging Bull.

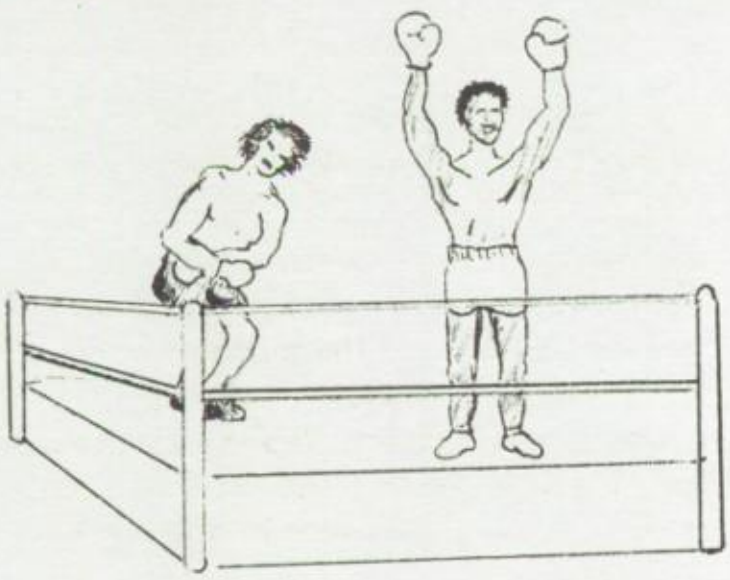
JAN.

Georgia's Bulldogs beat Notre Dame, 17-10, in the Sugar Bowl. A research team in Switzerland produces three mice from embryonic cells, the first mammals ever to be cloned. The 52 hostages come home. Chrysler gets another $400 million in loans. The Oakland Raiders defeat the Philadelphia Eagles in Super Bowl XV. Ronald Wilson Reagan becomes the nation's 40th President.

(PART OF) THE YEAR THAT WAS

OCT.

Iraq attacks Iran. Anderson's prospects begin to fade. Muhammad Ali is beaten by Larry Holmes. Rumors fly that the U.S. hostages may be released. The U.S. dominates the Nobel Prize honors list. The Soviets set a record 185 day mission in space. Mt. St. Helens continues to rumble.



DEC.

Eighty-three lose their lives in a fire at the MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas. It's finally revealed that Kristin Shepard pulled the trigger at J.R. Reagan begins picking his cabinet. Roberto Duran quits in the eighth round and Sugar Ray Leonard regains his welterweight crown. Interest rates soar. John Lennon dies tragically at 40. Outfielder Dave Winfield joins the Yankees for $20 million over ten years, baseball's richest contract ever.

FEB.

Outrage grows as tales of Iranian barbarism begin to surface. Reagan calls for deep budget cuts and generous tax deductions to revitalize the economy. Prince Charles becomes engaged to Lady Diana Spencer.

MAR.

It is announced that America can now lay claim to possessing the world's shortest work week: 35 hours and 36 minutes. The Space Shuttle Columbia passes preliminary tests with flying colors. The yearbook staff puts the Sisunga to bed.

LAST WILL AND

I, Kim Richardson, leave my straight teeth to my best friend, Kim Loyd.

I, Joan Van Dran, leave to Mr. Rhodes my brother Daryl, and to Mr. Durio all my treasured Chipmunk records.

I, Patricia Ludolph, leave to anyone interested my natural love for music and the stage. May they bring to you as much joy and happiness as they have to me.

I, Gwen Howard, being of somewhat sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath a magnifying glass to Mr. Curley, and my window to Asha.

I, Carolyn Huber, leave to the junior class, as my last will and testament, the skill to bluff your way through physics.

I, David Cook, leave to the AL Marching Band, the perseverance to put up with your Drum Major and past and present tuba players.

We, Dennis, Janelle, Marcie, Bill, Anna, and Bill, leave to Glen Wilson, Bill Cox, Laura Howell, and Alan Pfeifer our ability to find unusual ways to spend Friday and Saturday nights.

I, Tim Nelson, leave my ability to come up with the wrong joke at the wrong time to all future comedians who wish to publicly embarrass themselves.

I, Lenora Lesperance, being of sound mind and body, leave my Mustang to Debbie, who deserves nothing but the best.

I, Cindi Mann, leave to Sister Lisa my smile and school spirit.

I, Robin Morgan, of superior intelligence, goodness, and patience, leave all these to my teachers and my best friend, Mary Truver.

I, Jeff Freymueller, leave the hopeless task of cleaning up the campus to the sophomore class.

I, Doug Claflin, leave great sympathy and all the sleepless nights to all juniors who take Honors English 7-8.

I, Suzan Chase, of almost sound mind and body, leave to Karen Dumont anything left in ALHS that's worthwhile.

I, Bryan Fulk, being of sound mind and body, do hereby leave all dead puppies to Miss Rodriguez.

I, Bonnie Kirker, leave my incredible ability to talk with my hands to Danny Rozich.

I, Annette Kubeja, leave my courageous ability to go to all my classes and stay out of trouble to those who just have a lack of willpower.

TESTAMENT

I, Dottie Ellis, leave my most extraordinary laugh to anyone who doesn't have a sense of humor.

I, Tim Barnes, would like to leave nothing to all of the "nons" who deserve it.

I, Oscar Delgado, leave my ability to brown nose the right people at the right time to Mandy Longley.

I, Traci Henson, leave to the underclassmen of AL all the extra credits that I've earned.

I, Gary Stevens, leave my ability to earn good grades with minimum effort to my brother, Mike. I also hope I leave my teachers with some of their sanity left.

I, Tina Herrick, being of sound mind, will the duties of Pep Commissioner to Lisa Gray, along with having headaches, missing sleep, being referee, being ignored, and being mother to next year's squad.

I, Ron Long, will my ability to possess an outstanding appearance, intelligence, and personality, and to never be asked to a backwards dance.

I, Nicki Smith, leave my little sister, Tracy, all my truants.

I, Roy Scott Brooks, being of almost sound mind, leave.

I, Art Padilla, will my great ability to attract girlfriends to Mike Callis, who is my best friend and who needs it more than I do.

I, Jeri McMullen, leave to ALHS my feeble legs, stiff neck, gray hairs, and headaches in appreciation for the fine education you have given moi.

I, Darlene Carroll, of sound mind and body, leave to Rose Versage my fantastic typing ability and, to my brother, Henry, my car (in case anything should happen).

I, Lori Kesig, will my tiny nose to Ms. Joan Van Dran.

I, Ruben Miranda, leave my F's, truants, ditches, my "Wrapper's Delight," my "cool," and my "Don't touch the hair," to the junior class.

I, Kris Matthys, leave to Michelle Boyette my ability to be on time to 1st period, all my pens and paper, my comb, and all the "put downs" we've shared.

I, Anna Wolski, do hereby leave my fine line of suits to the comfortable people whose Jordaches are getting a little too tight.
